

Guido Succeeds Frondizi

Kennedy Scores Tax Victory In House

Argentina's Crisis Still Not Settled

Military Leaders Withhold Support; Ex-Chief Banished

BUENOS AIRES, Friday (UPI) — Military sources reported early today that Senate President Jose M. Guido has been accepted as "provisional president" of Argentina.

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Senate President Jose Maria Guido stunned the armed forces Thursday by suddenly stepping into the presidency of Argentina without notifying the rebellious military leaders who deposed and banished President Arturo Frondizi.

The new president calmly dismissed speculation that the commanders might throw him out.

There was a tense, confused interval of nine hours between the exiling of Frondizi on a naval island and Guido's unprecedented and almost private oath-taking ceremony in the Supreme Court.

Guido's sudden action — after hours of refusing military pleas that he take the office — touched off a wave of anger among the top brass, creating an impression that he might not be allowed to wield executive power.

There were rumors about that Gen. Raul Poggi, army commander in chief and a leader of the bloodless coup that ended Frondizi's four-year regime early Thursday, had sworn himself in to replace Guido.

Guido Confident

But in a premidnight news conference, Guido was a picture of cool confidence, declaring: "At no moment did Gen. Poggi assume the presidency."

As senate president, Guido was first in line for the job; the vice presidency has been vacant.

What stunned the military was Guido's lightning change of mind. Throughout the day there were indications the generals and admirals were urging him to take office to preserve the impression of constitutional procedure. But he had appeared reluctant.

Then he suddenly took the oath before the Supreme Court with no advance notice and went off to Government House, where he plunged into a round of conferences to push ahead with plans for a new government.

Hours before, Frondizi embraced his tearful wife and then was flown off to an isolated navy island in the River Plate estuary for detention.

Ready To Call Elections

As the transfer of office occurred, Guido, a lawyer and member of Frondizi's Intransigent Radical party, said he was ready to call for elections.

With a new president in office, the military rulers opened a way to solve their No. 1 problem left by Frondizi's ouster—the formation of constitutional government that would avoid outright military rule.

But their second big problem—how to deal with the 2.6-million voters who still cling to ex-dictator Juan D. Peron who dogged the days of Frondizi throughout his four years of rule—remained.

Behind the Peronist peril lies the grave economic sickness inherited from a decade of Peronist dictatorship which Frondizi's austerity policies fell short of curing.

The reaction to the coup by the believers in Peronism—backed by some 100,000 underground Communists and Castroites—could be violent. So could be the effect on Argentina's angry students who fear another military dictatorship may try to control their thinking.

Tear Gas Duel Waged In Berlin

BERLIN (UPI) — West Berlin police routed Communist guards in a tear gas duel along the East-West Berlin border Thursday.

A Western police spokesman said Communist police hurled six gas grenades across the border of the French sector Wednesday in an attempt to drive a Western patrol away from the border barricade.

The West Berlin patrol returned the attack by hurling 10 tear gas grenades, the spokesman said, and the Communist guards fled when the wind shifted against them.

The incident occurred as Communist police patrols searched the refugee wall area for more tunnels like the one in which they killed a young West Berliner who had led numerous refugees to haven in West Berlin.

GOP Attempt To Strip Bill Beaten Back

Administration's Measure Passed By Vote Of 219-196

WASHINGTON (AP) — A few hours after President Kennedy made a public appeal for passage of his pending tax measure, the House approved it Thursday over determined Republican opposition.

A GOP effort to return the bill to committee with instructions to cut two major administration provisions was beaten 225 to 190. Final passage followed a little later on a 219-196 vote.

The measure goes now to the Senate where it is given a good chance to pass without major changes—but only after prolonged committee hearings and floor debate.

On the crucial recommitment test, the Republicans held their ranks solidly but were able to rally only 27 Democratic votes. On final passage, 34 Democrats voted against the administration while a lone Republican—Rep. Richard H. Poff of Virginia—sided with the majority.

GOP Hits Two Provisions

Republicans centered their fire on two main provisions. One would require withholding income taxes of 20 per cent on dividends and interest payments — which would give the government an estimated $630 million in annual revenue. The other would allow 7-per-cent tax credits for business expenditures on modernization of production facilities—estimated to cut revenues by $1.2 billion a year.

Kennedy made a strong pitch for the bill at his morning news conference even though it represents considerably less than he originally asked.

As submitted by the administration, the measure would have balanced loss of revenue through the business tax credit program by tightening of collections in several areas in addition to the interest and dividend withholding. These would have included virtual elimination of income tax deductions for business entertaining plus much heavier imposts on income earned overseas by American companies and individuals.

Senate Hearings Monday

As a result of changes made in the House Ways and Means Committee, the anticipated additional revenues are expected to fall some $600 million short of the losses due to the incentive tax credits. This is about the surplus which the administration has hopefully projected for its budget for fiscal 1963.

Hearings on the measure are to begin Monday before the Senate Finance Committee headed by Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., and are expected to last at least four weeks.

As passed by the House, the bill pleases neither the liberals nor conservatives of the Senate. The former would like to see the originally proposed loophole tightenings restored and will exert pressure in this direction. Conversely, the conservatives dislike the dividend-withholding and other provisions and will try to eliminate or water down these.

The guessing now is that these opposing forces are likely to pretty well nullify each other and allow the bill to go through in substantially its present form.

During floor debate, Democratic Whip Hale Boggs of Louisiana attacked the Republican strategy for offering no substitute for the portions that would be deleted.

Body Cremated

MADRAS, India (AP) — The body of T. G. Narayanan, special adviser on disarmament to the U.N. secretary-general, was brought Thursday from Bombay by special plane and cremated here according to Hindu rites, his 17-year-old son lighting the funeral pyre. Narayanan died in his sleep in Geneva Sunday.

First Lady Back; JFK Meets Her

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy flew home Thursday night to the waiting arms of her husband after a three-week goodwill tour she described as the "most fascinating experience imaginable."

President Kennedy was waiting at Washington National Airport when the First Lady landed here aboard the family plane, the Caroline, after a flight from New York. They left immediately for the White House where their children, Caroline and John Jr., waited.

Mrs. Kennedy arrived radiant and refreshed from a three-day stopover in London where she rested from her travels in India and Pakistan.

"This has been the most fascinating experience imaginable," the First Lady said while en route by commercial jet from London to New York earlier in the day. "However, it feels unnatural for me to go on such a long semi-official trip without my husband," she added. "I have missed my family and I have no desire to be a public personality of my own."

Mrs. Kennedy said the people she met in Pakistan and India were kind to her.

She said this was "because I was the wife of the President, so the people were showing their affection for him and he should have been there to receive it."

The First Lady's activities ranged from a camelback ride in Pakistan to a view of the Taj Mahal in India and lunch at Buckingham Palace in England. Admiring Britons saw her off with cheers and wolfwhistles.

Floods Force 2,500 Persons From Homes

SIoux CITY, Iowa (UPI) — Tired volunteers shored up Sioux City's weakening levees against a double-barreled onslaught by the berserk Floyd and Big Sioux Rivers Thursday and a new surge of spring floods made 2,500 persons homeless in the Middle West. Flood crews battled to plug three leaks in dikes protecting eastern sections of Sioux City from the pressing Floyd River and decided to move bulldozers into the other side of the city to push up earthen bulwarks against the Big Sioux.

Cooler weather slowed the snow melt in northwestern Iowa and delayed arrival of the Floyd's crest until sometime Friday morning.

But officials warned of a "dangerous flooding situation" in the city, where at least 700 persons had fled their homes voluntarily or moved out under a "get out or be pulled out" order.

A flood emergency committee began organizing its crews into shifts to give some bone-tired workers much-needed rest.

Three more Iowa National Guard units were called up to battle the swelling runoff from a heavy winter snowpack as new flood threats popped up in Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota and South Dakota.

High waters made an estimated 1,100 persons homeless in Iowa. Nebraska rivers routed about 1,100. Nearly 200 persons fled their homes in Minnesota.

Kennedy Declares A-Test Ban Talks At "Real Impasse"

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy declared Thursday that efforts to work out a nuclear test ban treaty with Russia had reached "a real impasse" because of Moscow's refusal to accept any inspection controls.

His statement appeared to be the next to last step before the United States resumes atmospheric tests next month. But he promised to continue the seemingly hopeless attempt for a treaty with on-site inspection.

At the same time, he scoffed at Russia's professed fears that the U. S.-proposed inspection system would be a haven for American spies. In effect, he said this country would not go about espionage in such a way.

The President spoke out on the test ban at a news conference in which he calmly discussed — sometimes with high good humor — nearly a score of subjects ranging from tax legislation to his old political foe, Richard M. Nixon.

The President was armed with a statement which represented a last-minute attempt to save his tax revision bill from a House Republican onslaught. He said the measure was vitally needed to give businessmen tax incentives they must have to compete in foreign markets and provide jobs for Americans.

The President also: — Urged state legislatures to try to give proper representation to urban areas. He said those who opposed the Supreme Court's far-reaching decision involving unfair apportionment in state legislatures were "not on very solid ground."

— Said he hoped the Steelworkers union's executive board and 230-man wage policy committee soon would give final approval to a new wage contract with the producers. He congratulated both management and labor for their "long and hard work" on the contract, terms of which were disclosed Wednesday.

— Said the Berlin situation was "a very difficult one" but that both Russia and the Western nations "have proceeded with a good deal of care." The President appeared to choose his words carefully here, saying that Berlin was "a matter of vital concern" to both Russia and the United States.

— Said he had seen nothing about reports that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek said an invasion of the Red Chinese mainland could come any time. Kennedy said there had been no consultations about any invasion attempt as called for in a U.S. treaty with Formosa.

— Expressed hope that recovery from the last recession would continue to the extent that his budget for the next fiscal year would be kept in balance. He said he would have a better indication after economic reports are in for March and April.

— Urged the royal government in Laos to support efforts to get a neutral regime. Asked about the deadlock in negotiations there, he said the alternatives to such a compromise were "not very bright."

Whittaker Retires From High Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—Supreme Court Justice Charles E. Whittaker is retiring at 61 on doctor's orders.

The jurist, who mounted the high bench five years ago this month, said he is exhausted.

His retirement, effective April 1, was announced Thursday by President Kennedy.

Kennedy told his news conference he would name a successor shortly, but he declined to be drawn into any discussion of whom he will choose. It will be his first appointment to the Supreme Court.

Associates said the President has a number of possibilities under consideration, but no firm decision has been reached yet. An authoritative source was asked if any Negro was among those under consideration. He replied it might be assumed that the list would include "someone from this group."

A newsman asked if this group included Thurgood Marshall, special counsel to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. He was told that discussion of any individual should be avoided.

Whittaker, who retires on half-pay of $17,500 a year, was one of four Republicans appointed to the court by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. Eisenhower also appointed one Democrat, Justice William J. Brennan Jr.

Kennedy said it was with extreme regret that he announced Whittaker's decision.

Army Orders East German Travel Curbs

Safety Guarantees Refused By Soviets In Reply To Protest

HEIDELBERG, Germany (UPI) — The U.S. Army Thursday restricted travel by its military mission in East Germany and banned unescorted movement by the Soviet mission in Frankfurt in retaliation for the shooting of an Army car in East Germany.

A dozen American soldiers arrived at the Soviet compound in Frankfurt and padlocked the gate. The troops took up stations nearby while Frankfurt police sealed off connecting streets to traffic in the isolated section of south Frankfurt where the Soviet mission is situated.

Gen. Bruce C. Clarke, the Army's European commander, announced the moves after the Soviets sent him an "unacceptable" reply to the American protest over the shooting incident March 20.

Says Reply 'Unacceptable'

Clarke said the Soviet reply by Marshal Ivan Koniev was "unacceptable" because it refused to insure the safety of personnel stationed at the Army mission at Potsdam, just outside Berlin, in East Germany. He suggested an early meeting with Koniev to settle the differences.

Without safety guarantees, Army personnel must be confined to the mission, Clarke said. In return, Soviet personnel at the mission in Frankfurt also will be confined to traveling with a U.S. Army escort at all times, Clark announced.

Clarke also released full details of the shooting incident. He said five shots were fired at the Army car containing Maj. William P. Schneider of Beverly Hills, Calif., and Spec. 5 Douglas Raab of Richmond, Calif., the driver, when they pulled away from an East German police check in Wahlwinkel.

Soviet Report Differs

The Soviet report on the incident said the Americans involved in the shooting had disobeyed East German traffic regulations.

"In point of fact, no reason was given when a U.S. mission auto was stopped at 11:50 a. m. east of Wahlwinkel," Clarke's statement said.

Schneider demanded to see a Soviet officer and was told after an hour's wait "that the Soviet commandant was not coming and Schneider and his driver would have to wait about 10 hours," the account said.

"Schneider told the Vopos (Communist people's police) he could not wait under these circumstances. As the car started to leave, the Vopos fired several shots at the tires and back of the vehicle."

"Five shots hit the car, including hits on two tires and a ricochet off the trunk which broke the rear window."

Russ Plane Crashes In Laos; Eight Killed

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — A twin-engine Russian aircraft crashed in flames some seven miles south of the Laotian rebel air base at Phong Savan, the pro-Western government announced Thursday.

The brief government announcement said eight bodies were found in the burned wreckage, including those of four "white men."

Danger Areas Get Oral Polio Vaccine Priority

WASHINGTON (AP) — The children not yet given the full series of Salk shots, using either priority Thursday for use of oral polio vaccine in areas threatened by epidemics.

Surgeon General Luther L. Terry said the Sabin oral vaccine is especially valuable in combating an epidemic because it can be taken by mouth and quickly gives some protection against spread of the disease.

He said widespread use of both oral polio vaccines "could lead to early elimination of the disease."

Other priorities announced included the long-awaited PHS recommendations for use of polio vaccines—both the Salk needle-injected and the Sabin oral—were for:

1. Routine immunization of infants, beginning at six weeks of age and completed in one year.
2. Immunization of all preschool children.

Disarm Treaty Preamble Draft Work Ordered

GENEVA (AP)—The 17-nation disarmament conference agreed Thursday on a procedure for drafting a preamble for a disarmament treaty but the Western powers expressed some concern about the attitude taken by the Communists.

In British eyes, at least, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin seemed determined to plug the Russian disarmament line from first to last, with little consideration for the views of the non-Communist nations. The Americans took a more hopeful view following a three-hour session.

Specifically, the delegates instructed their cochairmen—American Ambassador Arthur H. Dean and Zorin—to work out agreed language for a preamble and report back by the middle of next week if possible.

Leaders of the other delegations will submit comments and suggestions of their own by Monday morning and these ideas will be considered by Dean and Zorin. The cochairmen also may call in various delegates to help them in their work.

The conference now has only one draft preamble before it—the one submitted by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko three weeks ago as part of a complete Russian disarmament treaty.

The United States has presented a series of specific arms control proposals but these are not in draft treaty form. There has been no firm indication when an American draft will be introduced.

Zorin showed some willingness to accept additions to his document. He agreed the preamble should include broad references to:

The obligation of states to live up to their international agreements and refrain from any steps which might aggravate their relations with other countries, plus the need to couple actual measures of disarmament with procedures for peaceful settlement of disputes.

1,182 Seized In Cuban Invasion Go On Trial

HAVANA (UPI)—The Castro regime Thursday put 1,182 war prisoners on trial behind closed doors at heavily guarded Principe prison in Havana's suburbs.

It was the biggest mass trial in Cuban political history.

The official charges against the prisoners, captured after last April's abortive Pigs Bay invasion, were not disclosed.

Havana radio said heard in Miami, Fla., said the prisoners were accused of carrying out a "treacherous attack" against the Cuban people at the "direct instigation of the imperialistic government of the United States."

Havana radio said trial board secretary Capt. Narciso Fernandez read the "charges" against the prisoners and that the reading took up most of the first session.

The government denied the prisoners the right to counsel of their choice. It rejected an appeal that a token delegation of relatives or friends be permitted to attend the proceedings.

A five-man military tribunal sat in judgment on the captives, many of whom belong to some of Cuba's best known families.

Western newsmen specifically were barred from attending the trial, presumably being held in the outdoor patio, or courtyard, of the prison, once a fortress in Spanish colonial times.

The government reserved press coverage to representatives of the local press and "friendly countries," presumably those behind the iron curtain and Communist China.

Tawes Asks Million In U.S. Aid For Coast

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes asked the federal government Thursday for $1,043,000 as its share in the reconstruction of Maryland's seacoast which was severely hit by a storm March 6 and 7.

President Kennedy had declared Worcester County a major disaster area and authorized that federal funds be used to aid in reconstruction and rehabilitation.

The governor, in a letter to Edward A. McDermott, director of the Office of Emergency Planning, said "the state of Maryland requests the allocation of funds by the federal government to assist in alleviating the great damage caused by the recent storm which struck the Atlantic coast."

Tawes explained that a total of $6,512,730 damage had been done to 22 miles of Assateague Island and 9 miles of mainland extending from Ocean City to the Maryland-Delaware border.

He said $1,043,000 damage was done to publicly owned property and $5,469,730 was done to privately owned property.

"As the livelihood of the residents of the damaged area is dependent upon the summer vacationers," the governor wrote, "it was mandatory that repair of the damage area be commenced at once."

He said a special appropriation from the General Assembly and money from a State Roads Commission emergency fund were used to get the restoration started.

Argentine U.N. Shift

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Buenos Aires coup Thursday was followed by a shift in the Argentine delegation to the United Nations. Ambassador Mario Amadeo resigned. Lucio Albert Garcia del Solar, his deputy, took over administration of Argentine's U.N. Embassy.

Fisher Fails To Meet Press

NEW YORK (UPI)—Singer Eddie Fisher Thursday failed to show up at a news conference called to answer published reports he had suffered a nervous breakdown because of the breakup of his marriage to actress Elizabeth Taylor.

But Milton Blackstone, Fisher's longtime manager who called newsmen together, reported that Miss Taylor, alarmed by the reports, had called Fisher's doctor from Rome Thursday.

Blackstone said that Miss Taylor, in Italy filming the multi-million dollar movie, "Cleopatra," was assured by Dr. Max Jacobson that there was nothing wrong with her husband except he was tired.

IBEW Expels Two Baltimore Local Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP)—The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers announced Thursday the expulsion of two leaders of a Baltimore local union that struck last summer contrary to orders of the national union.

The IBEW's international executive council announced the immediate expulsion of the two officials along with penalties against 13 other officials and members of the Baltimore local. The council said its punishment orders were "extremely light" under the circumstances.

The IBEW Local Union 28 in Baltimore called a strike last June against the city's electrical contractors in a wage contract dispute against the contrary orders of the union's international president, Gordon W. Freeman.

Freeman suspended the local's charter, established a new local, No. 24, and brought in other IBEW members to continue manning jobs for the contractors. The IBEW has a longtime agreement with electrical contractors throughout the country which seeks to settle disputes by local or national agreement without strikes.

In a case brought by the strike group, U.S. District Judge Rozel C. Thomsen ruled that Freeman had a right under the union's constitution to suspend the offending local but had gone about it in the wrong way. The court said the union's international council had a right to discipline the striker leaders after adequate hearing.

In a decision made public Thursday the council ordered immediate union expulsion for president Albert L. Eveson of former Local 28 and Joseph Beckhardt, business manager, for leading the local into a "disastrous adventure."

McKeldin Urges U.N. Bond-Buying Support

BALTIMORE (AP)—Theodore R. McKeldin, former Republican governor of Maryland, urged 10 U.S. senators by telegram Thursday to support President Kennedy's proposal that the United States buy $100 million worth of United Nations bonds.

"Failure of the United Nations now, or any retreat from its peace-keeping activities, would be a severe blow to freedom-loving nations and to their recognized leader, the United States," McKeldin's message said.

The telegrams went to Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Georgia, and nine Republicans. All have expressed opposition or reservations on the bond question. The Republicans are Sens. Scott of Pennsylvania, Boggs of Delaware, Dirksen of Illinois, Kuchel of California, Case of New Jersey, Lausche of Ohio, Saltonstall of Massachusetts, Morton of Kentucky and Smith of Maine.

Rogers To Head IRS Scranton District

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service announced Thursday appointment of Ellis R. Rogers as director of its Scranton, Pa., district.

Rogers, 46, will succeed Richard P. Brownell, who is retiring April 30 after 40 years of government service. Rogers has been assistant director for the Baltimore district since January, 1959.

The Scranton district includes 1.5 million people. Rogers will have supervision of 300 employees.

Wife-Nurse Of Armless Man Wins Compensation

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—The Workmen's Compensation Commission, following up a Court of Appeals ruling, has awarded a Washington County woman $60 a week for acting as a practical nurse for her armless husband.

The payments to Mrs. Albert Barkdoll of nearby State Line will continue for the rest of her husband's life.

Barkdoll's arms were amputated at the shoulders more than 10 years ago. He was injured while working on a utility pole for the A. G. Crunkleton Electric Co.

The 36-year-old Hagerstown man has received other compensation benefits, but the case was reopened to determine if his wife should receive the payments for acting as practical nurse.

The Workmen's Compensation Commission ruled against such payments, but this decision was reversed by the Circuit Court and upheld the Court of Appeals.

The case then was returned to the compensation commission to set the amount of weekly payments. The case is believed to be the first of its kind in Maryland.

Maryland Toll Road Will Provide Asphalt-Concrete Comparison

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland's first toll road, the Northeast Expressway from Baltimore to Delaware, will provide builders with a practical comparison of asphalt and concrete.

Nello L. Teer Co. of Durham, N.C., was awarded the last contract Thursday for building about 18 miles of the expressway north of the Susquehanna River to Delaware for $12,699,749.

The contractor exercised an option and chose to build its section of the four-lane divided highway with asphalt. Contractors for the nearly 23 miles south of the river had designated concrete.

The expressway is scheduled for completion in November of next year. It will roughly parallel existing U.S. 40, a highway that has become world known by refusal of some restaurants adjoining it to serve Negroes.

U.S. 40 is thick with restaurants, motels and service stations. There will be only one restaurant in each direction on the toll road.

Completion of the Northeastern Expressway and a connecting 11-mile toll road in Delaware will provide a high-speed motor vehicle route all the way between New York City and Washington.

OES Club Meets

LONACONING — OES Officers Club of Martha Washington Chapter No. 10, will meet today at 7:45 p.m. at the Masonic Hall, Main Street.

Mrs. Cecelia Jones, Mrs. Jeanette Boal, Mrs. Eva Staup and Mrs. Mildred Cross will be hostesses.

The southern end of the Northeast Expressway will lead to a harbor tunnel that by-passes Baltimore and connects with another limited access road to the nation's capital. The New Jersey Turnpike offers speedy travel between Delaware and New York.

The contract awarded Thursday brought the construction cost of the Northeast Expressway to $40.2 million. But other costs, including bonds, will make the total $74 million.

The toll will be $1 on the Maryland section and 30 cents in Delaware.

Failure At Farming

LONDON (UPI) — It all began with a lot of fanfare. The ministry of agriculture bought a 1,200-acre farm at Llanverian in Wales in 1948 to make it a showplace of farming "production and efficiency." The farm cost $316,400 at the time. It lost $42,962 in its first year and lost money every year after that except in 1958, when it made a $996 profit.

The government offered it to the highest bidder Thursday.

Doctors' Day Observed

Ninety guests attended the annual Doctors' Day Dinner at the Cumberland Country Club last night when the Woman's Auxiliary to the Allegany-Garrett County Medical Society joined with auxiliaries throughout the country in the observance. This was first observed by the state of Georgia in commemoration of the day Dr. Crawford W. Long of Georgia first demonstrated the use of ether as an anesthetic, March 30, 1842. It was later made a national observance by the Woman's Auxiliary to the American Medical Association, and the red carnation was adopted as the official flower.

Cocktails preceded dinner. The tables were decorated with arrangements of red carnations, red tulips, white single stock, white gladiolus and eucalyptus in tall triple candelabra. A large basket of the same kind of flowers was hung from the ceiling of the ballroom. Menu covers were of red and white featuring the red carnation.

After dinner welcoming remarks were made by Mrs. Howard Tolson. Members of the auxiliary board were introduced. Mrs. Carlton Brinsfield gave a brief account of the observance of Doctors' Day. Mrs. Leslie Miles, program chairman, introduced Joseph Blundon and the members of the West Virginia Highlands Scottish Country Dance Group. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Blundon, Dr. and Mrs. Rudolph Stein-berger, Mrs. Fred Steiding, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morris and Donald C. Hott danced.

Pipe Major David D. Brown accompanied some of the numbers. Other numbers were danced to music which Mr. Blundon has recorded in various places throughout the nation. Mr. Blundon began his activities with folk dancing while attending M.I.T. and Harvard in Boston and Cambridge, where many immigrant groups have preserved the songs and dances of the old world. Mr. Blundon took every opportunity to dance with those groups and learn their songs and dances. The group thus formed became a member of the Royal Scottish Country Dance society, to which Mr. and Mrs. Blundon and most of the members of his dance group belong.

Mr. and Mrs. Blundon attended the annual summer school of the Royal Scottish Country Dance Society in Scotland in 1959 and both hold teachers' certificates from the Society. During his college summer vacations, Mr. Blundon did some field recording for the division of music of the Library of Congress, collecting old-time fiddle and banjo tunes in the area around Keyser and Cumberland. His group have put on a number of demonstrations, including several at the Mountain State Forest Festival at Elkins, W. Va., and two at the National Folk Festival in Washington in 1960 and 1961. They will appear there again this year.

Mrs. Howard L. Tolson and Mrs. Paul Pickens are attending the State Department Day being sponsored by the Maryland Division, American Association of University Women, in Washington.

Mrs. Samuel Moses Wins Jr. Club Sewing Contest

April 25 was selected for the date of the anniversary tea and the club winner in the Vogue sewing contest was selected at the meeting of the board of the Junior Woman's Civic Club Wednesday evening at the club house. Mrs. Raymond Lapp Jr., presided. The 15th anniversary will be observed at a tea, at which time past presidents and new members will be honored. The Men's Night dinner was tentatively set for May 6.

Mrs. Samuel Moses was the winner in the Vogue contest. She modeled her one-piece dress and jacket ensemble, made of black wool, with the faintest shadow weave. The straight jacket has a wrapped front, with a cascade drape below the shaped collar. A large button closer created unusual interest. The sleeves are the new elbow length. The basic one-piece dress has a slim skirt and elongated bodice, in the new gently curved skirt styling. With it she wore a floral hat.

Also stressing the versatile costume, Mrs. Lapp wore a black wool crepe costume with chanel jacket trimmed in black braid, under which a sheath dress featured an elasticized waistline.

The third club entry, Mrs. Edward Weber wore a pastel check wool suit of three shades of pink, with cardigan jacket, three-quarter-length sleeves and pencil-skirt. Under the jacket she wore a pale pink cashmere sweater. She also had made a little clip with a bow of the suit material, for her hat. With it she wore white patent leather slippers.

Judy Geiger, the club's high school entry, had a three-piece ensemble of bone-colored cotton brocade, with chanel packet and silk skirt. Her blouse was of shades of green silk crepe with short sleeves and boat neckline.

Mrs. Stanley Goodrich was in charge of the project, Mrs. Ralph Sell Jr., commentator, and Mrs. Jack Moore and Mrs. Virgil Eackles judges. A social hour followed and refreshments were served by Mrs. Goodrich, assisted by Mrs. Glen Brant and Mrs. Moses. The district contest will be held April 4 at a luncheon at the Cumberland Club at 12:30.

A slate of officers for election in May will be announced at the general meeting at 8 p. m. April 4 at the club house. Mrs. William E. Bruce is hostess chairman. She will be assisted by Mrs. Brant, Mrs. Joseph Pellerzi, Mrs. Goodrich, Mrs. Ronald Screen, Mrs. Wesley McGraw Jr. and Mrs. Philip Wendt.

Local Blind Man Worked At Annapolis

A Cumberland man was in charge of one of the two refreshment stands operated by the Maryland Workshop for the Blind during the recent session of the General Assembly.

George Abbott, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Abbott, North Branch, ran the stand in the basement of the Statehouse.

Abbott attended the Maryland Workshop School for the Blind and afterward enrolled at Fort Hill High School where he finished his education in 1959.

Later he was trained to operate a vending stand and since then has been a relief operator at the various stands of the workshop in public buildings.

In the closing days of the General Assembly, Abbott was introduced to the legislators in both the House of Delegates and the Senate.

If by reason of death, resignation, removal from office, inability or failure to qualify there is neither a president nor vice president to discharge the powers and duties of the office of president, the speaker of the House shall act as president.

ADMIRAL GALANTIN

ABL To Host New Polaris Head Today

Read Admiral I. J. Galantin, new director of the Navy's Polaris program today will tour facilities at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory and deliver an address to employees.

ABL is currently doing research and development work on the second stage of the Polaris missile. The second stages of the A-2 Polaris and the improved A-3 Polaris were designed and developed at the Hercules Powder Company-operated facility in Rocket Center, W. Va.

Friday afternoon Admiral Galantin will hold a press-radio conference in ABL's Polaris Conference Room.

A distinguished submariner, Admiral Galantin took over as director of the Navy's Special Projects Office on February 25. He succeeded Vice Admiral William F. Raborn Jr., who has directed the Polaris program since its inception in 1956. Admiral Raborn has been promoted to deputy chief of Naval Operations for Development.

Prior to receiving his orders as head of Special Projects, Admiral Galantin served as director of the anti-submarine warfare division in the office of the Chief of Naval Operations.

A graduate of the Naval Academy, class of 1933, his submarine commands included the R-11, the Sculpin, and the Halibut, which was awarded the Navy Unit Commendation for her 10th war patrol. During the World War II battle of Leyte Gulf, the Halibut sank a large Japanese warship.

Admiral Galantin holds the Navy Cross, the Silver Star and two gold stars, the Pacific Campaign Medal with five stars, and the Korean Service Medal with two stars.

From 1945 to 1952, he served in various staff and command capacities. During the Korean conflict, he was commanding officer of the oiler, USS Navasota, and in 1954 assumed command of Submarine Squadron 7, followed by orders to the National War College.

From 1955 until his last assignment, Admiral Galantin served as CNO's head of submarine warfare branch, deputy chief of staff for logistics and administration on the staff of Commander of Allied Forces in Southern Europe, and commander of Cruiser Division 2.

Admiral Galantin was born in New York City, and was graduated from high school in Des Plaines, Ill., which he calls home.

While at the Naval Academy, he was intercollegiate fencing champion.

LaVale Water Bills Increased

The minimum rate for water for consumers supplied by the LaVale Sanitary Commission will be increased on all bills issued after Sunday, April 1.

Willard Engle, superintendent of the water company, said the new rates of $9 per quarter went into effect January 1 and are being reflected in bills that will be mailed next week.

The previous cost for a minimum usage of 15,000 gallons of water was $6.75 every three months.

The reason for the increase, Engle pointed out, is due to the added cost of purchasing water from the City of Cumberland.

In October, industrial rates to LaVale, along with other out-of-city consumers were increased approximately 40 per cent.

Judge Upholds Liquor Permit At Shop Center

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris yesterday in Circuit Court struck down all the arguments used by counsel for an appellant from a decision of the Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverage License Commissioners.

The appeal from the board's action in stating it would grant an off-sale beer, wine and liquor permit to Mrs. Katherine Mills for a storeroom in the LaVale Plaza Shopping Center was taken by Hugh Kifer, who operates a similar business across U. S. Route 40 from the shopping center.

Judge Harris heard testimony from George Waingold, rental agent for the shopping center, as to the lease arrangement and other data pertaining to the rental of the storeroom and the facilities at the shopping center.

The appellant's counsel, Leslie J. Clark, contended that the liquor board acted "illegally in making its decision" and also that the laws on establishments which sell alcoholic beverages provides the place of business must face on a public street have not been met. He also contended that the law does not allow such a business to be "directly or indirectly operated along with chain stores or supermarkets."

William H. Geppert, attorney for Mrs. Mills, elicited from Waingold that each of the stores in the shopping center are separate entities and have no connecting doors. The parking area is open to the public and there are definite traffic lanes on the lot.

Following counsel's argument for the appellant, Judge Harris informed Geppert that it was not necessary for him to argue his client's case.

Judge Harris then dictated his opinion from the bench to the court stenographer. He said that the contents of the appellant are "more or less frivolous."

Judge Harris then stated that the liquor board had acted correctly within its authority and duties in handling the case. He also said the place where the Mills package liquor store will be located is within the purview of the law on location and that "it is not hidden away in some obscure place."

The Cincinnati Red Stockings was the first salaried baseball club in history (1869).

Loft's is Coming to Town...

Watch for Important Announcement.

Don't Buy Your Easter Candy Yet.

One day each year we pause to give recognition to a dedicated group of men and women who labor tirelessly every day in the battle of mankind against disease and pestilence — our doctors. The medical profession is a select and honored group. To be included in their number requires many years of intensive and costly training and experience. Only a few of the many who begin are able to finally achieve the coveted goal and now the honor of adding M.D. after their names. For, to be a Doctor, requires a zest for knowledge; a dedication to the welfare of mankind and desire to improve it's lot that is not common in every man. The desire for monetary gain can never be a pre-requisite to the physician's life, since if this were the primary motivation, it could never be strong enough to carry him through the intense strains and stress of his everyday practice.

We at Walsh-McCagh are proud to be an integral part of the medical health team of the community, of which the doctor is the head. Doctor-Dentist-Pharmacist-Nurse-Hospital . . . All have their parts to play, and all combine to give the American public the best medical care, the longest and healthiest lives, of any nation in history. So, on Doctor's Day, look for the man wearing the red carnation. He is a doctor — the best friend you can find, to save your life.

Machine Tool Class Checked

A three-man federal-state team of observers last night reportedly was well pleased with progress made in the new machine tool operator training course being conducted at the Allegany Trade School.

The three men who came here last night from Oakland are James L. Reed, state director of vocational education; Howard B. Gunderson of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare; and Gerard G. Keogh, staff supervisor for the State Department of Employment Security.

J. D. Lonnholm, county supervisor of vocational and adult education, said the three men were well pleased and complimentary about this course which started February 5 with 21 enrolled. It will continue until mid-May. Wallace M. Walker and Dale Walker are the instructors.

Assistance in setting up the course was given by the Upper Potomac Industrial Development Company. Yesterday the three evaluators drove from Baltimore to Oakland to check the new Oakland Knitting Mill Inc. which opened last week with 30 employees and aims for a labor force of 100. This morning they will go from Cumberland to Hagerstown to observe a similar training program there.

have suffered ignominious deaths in the last two consecutive sessions of the legislature.

A redistribution of 123 delegates was approved by the House earlier this month but it failed by two votes in the Senate.

Pine had been sponsor of another reapportionment bill and Boone of one to call a constitutional convention at which House redistribution could have been considered.

Meanwhile, Gov. Tawes has maintained silence on the Supreme Court ruling and urging by opponents to call a special session of the legislature to reconsider reapportionment.

He said he is awaiting for Atty. Gen. Thomas B. Finan to digest the Supreme Court decision and also for action by the Maryland Court of Appeals.

The state court has been asked to order the circuit court of Anne Arundel to hear arguments on whether the legislature should be forced to reapportion itself.

President Kennedy added his voice Thursday to those hoping that state legislatures would provide equal representation without court orders.

"It is the responsibility of the political groups to respond to the need," the President said.

More Guidance

She commented upon the cooperation of the Hagerstown Kiwanis Club, which arranged interviews for young high school people with business and professional men. This results in visits to business firms and industries by the student, and many times results in his finding part-time work or after-school employment.

Miss Beachley also outlined how the Chamber of Commerce and other agencies offer their cooperation and adopt positive programs to help young people become productive and worthwhile citizens.

She commented on the problem of drop-outs and said that many times these young people can be kept in school until graduation if a guidance counselor is given an opportunity to help. Referring to the restless students, students with problems of a personal, economic or social nature, students who lose interest as "social dynamite," she declared this is the area where guidance is most needed and does its best work.

She advocated smaller classes, and agreed with J. Goodloe Jackson, president of the Allegany County Board of Education, that guidance counselors should not be included in a school's quota of teachers. Mr. Jackson observed that the state and county educators see the need and that as funds are available more guidance counselors will be employed.

Miss Beachley was introduced by Homer Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel for county public schools, who presided.

Export Trade

We Import, Too
Like other parts of America, the Sixth District is an importer as well as an exporter, since many of the industries depend for their output on a wide variety of materials not available in this country. But the United States actually sells far more to other countries than it buys — over $20 billion of exports against $15 billion of imports.

The importance of foreign trade to the nation, and its economic impact on individual states and local districts, is now being debated in Congress, where public hearings started March 12 on the Administration's new Trade Expansion Bill to replace the present Trade Agreements Act which expires June 30. President Kennedy has urged Congress to act without delay to meet changing conditions, on the reasoning that the European Common Market is crystallizing its trade patterns now and the United States may find itself frozen out of this vast market.

Commissioners Discuss Roads

WESTMINSTER (AP) —Member counties of the Western Maryland County Commissioners Association were urged Thursday to deputize road personnel to enforce snow emergency regulations and to curb the littering of highways.

The suggestion was made by representatives of Allegany County, who said the plan would go into effect there soon.

County commissioners or their representatives from Allegany, Garrett, Frederick, Washington and Carroll counties met in an all-day session here Thursday. The topics of discussion included schools, water, sewerage and administration matters.

Sen. Edward O. Weant Jr., D-Carroll, reviewed legislation from the recent session of the General Assembly which was of interest to the area counties.

William S. Ratford 2nd of College Park discussed the role and function of the County Commissioners Association of Maryland, of which he is executive secretary.

The meeting included a tour of the new Carroll County General Hospital near Westminster.

The group decided to hold its next meeting in Cumberland in June.

New Hercules Motor Used In NASA Launch

A new improved rocket motor designed, developed, and manufactured at Allegheny Ballistics Laboratory passed its initial flight test with flying colors yesterday aboard a NASA Scout vehicle launched from Wallops Island, Va.

The new motor is the Hercules Powder Company's X-259 Antares II, which has a 30 per cent increase in payload carrying capability over the earlier version of the rocket, the X-254 Antares I.

Additional performance capability is attributed to an improved high-energy solid propellant fuel developed at ABL.

Hercules scientists at Navy-owned ABL said the motor is the same size as the earlier X-254, and marks a milestone in the NASA Scout program since the increased high-energy motor fits in the same space limitations as the third stage of the Scout vehicle.

Encased in a spirally glass fibre shell, manufactured at Hercules' Rocky Hill, N. J., plant, the X-259's total weight is approximately 2,750 pounds. Following burnout, its weight is about 220 pounds.

Also aboard the Scout during today's deep space probe was ABL's famous X-248 Altair, used as the fourth and final stage of the Scout. Altair today marked its 46th consecutive successful flight.

Both the new X-259 and the X-248 were utilized in thrusting a 90-pound payload deep into the ionosphere in search of information which NASA hopes will lead to improved communications on earth and between space vehicles.

NASA said the space probe was designed to measure the electron density profile, ion density, and types of ions in the ionosphere, the region where some radio signals are reflected back to earth.

NASA officials stated that since there was telemetry throughout the 85-minute flight, no effort will be made to recover the payload. The rocket blazed away from Wallops Island at 2:27 a. m. (EST) yesterday.

Other stocks: Illinois-Indiana 6,808,000 barrels, down 173,000; Kansas 8,494,000, up 236,000; Louisiana 21,307,000, down 370,000; Oklahoma 17,281,000, up 841,000; California 23,414,000, up 566,000.

To Curtail Violence

LONDON (UPI)—The British Broadcasting Corp. took steps Thursday to curtail violence on its television programs. The BBC announced it would not show news films Saturday of the New York boxing match in which Cuban fighter Benny Paret, former world welterweight champion, was critically injured.

BBC also said it was considering blacking out a realistic hanging scene from a serial dramatization of Charles Dickens' "Oliver Twist." It was charged in Commons that four British children had hanged themselves in the past 18 months after seeing hanging scenes on their television screens.

The greatest recorded flood disaster occurred in 1887 when China's Yellow River overflowed, killing an estimated 900,000 people.

United Fund Agency Files Report For Keyser Area

KEYSER—A true heart-warming chapter in the County United Fund story was written last year by United Charities of Keyser, a CUF agency which has gone on record as enjoying its most successful year in 1961.

United Charities is one of the 31 participating agencies that serve the social, health and youth needs of Allegany and Mineral counties. In the words of William F. Miller, secretary of United Charities of Keyser, "Many heart-warming stories could be told about the people who were given help and the cases we were called on to help last year. They were taken care of by United Charities and CUF."

A total of 160 families in the Keyser area received help from United Charities, and these families had dependents numbering nearly 1,000.

At a cost of $2,537, groceries were provided to deserving families. This amounted to 236 different food orders.

Twenty-two area families received coal and wood at a cost of $218.50, and 23 families were able to pay their gas and electric bills with the $249.80 spent by United Charities here.

Badly-needed clothing was distributed, $308 worth, and rent payments totaling $133.50 were made for seven families. Medical needs for 12 families were provided with several of these obtaining the medicine aid at various times.

The local organization accommodated numerous transient persons and spent $55.24 for hotel bills, gasoline and food. One family, with school children, was able to obtain school lunches for them through the efforts of United Charities.

"Last, but not least," Miller continued, "with money provided by the County United Fund we were able to assist 227 families at Christmas with food orders at a cost of $1,449. This provided Christmas meals for nearly 1,200 children."

Tucker County Development Is Discussed

Travel Clinic Meets In May

PARSONS, W. Va.—The Tucker County Development Association met Sunday at Blackwater Lodge in Davis.

The group discussed the county over-all Economic Development Program and decided to accept the responsibility of this project and to have an OEDP book published, contacting civic organizations for funds.

Normal Laughlin, of the Upper Monongahela Valley Association, discussed the West Virginia Travel Clinic which is scheduled to be held at Blackwater Lodge May 10-11. This will be the third travel clinic and the second to be held at Blackwater Lodge. Those who are expected to attend are Sen. Jennings Randolph, Sen. Robert Byrd, Burl Sawyer, Warden Lane and Hulett Smith. About 20 persons, some of them from out of the state, will appear on the program and take part in panel discussions. The West Virginia Travel Clinic is sponsored by the Upper Monongahela Valley Association and the Tucker County Development Council.

On May 9, a social hour will be held for those who have arrived early and the welcoming address will be given by J. Kenton Lambert of Parsons. A local minister will give the invocation.

The local group will serve on the reception committee for the two-day period of May 10-11 and there will be tours planned for the county.

There is a possibility of an eight-state Travel Clinic meeting being held at Blackwater Lodge in 1963. Some contacts have been made relevant to establishing a National Boy Scout camp in the Blackwater area, according to J. Kenton Lambert.

Present for the meeting were Carl Barr, chairman, Charles Bennett, Ernest Colabrese, Stelman H. Harper, Ben Thompson, John Pate, M. L. Cooper, Cecil Parsons, Pat Sagace, Robert Pickard, John Cook, Mrs. Lillian Barr, J. Kenton Lambert, Herman Morris, Billy Neff and Richard Apple. Assessments Show Increase In Hardy Co.

Tax Rates Are Unchanged

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — The total assessed valuation for Hardy County jumped more than a million dollars over last year according to the levy estimates published this week. The rates for the tax money levied by the Hardy County Board of Education, by the Hardy County Court and the Municipality of Wardsville were the same as last year. Total collections are upped due to increased valuations.

Adult Baptist Fellowship Lists Projects

Ida Phillips Is President

PARSONS, W. Va.—The Adult Fellowship group of the First Baptist Church of Parsons met in the social rooms of the church for their regular dinner meeting.

Due to the evangelistic services being held in the church each evening at 7:30 no program was given, but all those present for the dinner remained for the evening service.

A short business meeting was held with Ida Phillips, president, presiding. The group voted to re-finish work space and tables in the kitchen and to purchase a new sink for use in the kitchen. Serving on that committee are Forest Isner, chairman, Edward Simmons and Ida Phillips.

The Baptist Adult Fellowship, a new organization, was formed this year when the Good Samaritan Sunday School class and the Men's Brotherhood of the church combined to form one large group. The program packet of the American Baptist Men with its theme, "There Stood a Man" will be used throughout the year. The projects, started by the women's group before the two groups were combined, will continue.

Officers of the new organization are Ida Phillips, president; Gordon G. Lambert, first vice president; Mrs. Isabel Simmons, second vice president; Mrs. Florence Schilansky, secretary and treasurer; Ona Hovatter, growth chairman; Worlie Simmons fellowship chairman; Forest Isner, action chairman; Rev. Geo. T. Leatherman Heads Olivet Cemetery Company

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — bonds as well as some money in a checking account.

Mr. Saville was appointed to be an audit committee of one to audit the books of the association. A committee of three, H. G. Muntzing, James Ansel and Lewis Moorman, was appointed to amend the charter to bring it up to date and to draw up by-laws for the corporation. When the committee is ready to report, another meeting of shareholders will be called.

The Olivet Cemetery Association was given a charter as a corporation in 1850 by the state of Virginia. When West Virginia became a state, all such charters were recognized and continued. The charter is quite out of date, the by-laws have disappeared during the years and a reorganization was deemed necessary.

C. C. Wise Sr., and Carl S. Welton, who have served for a number of years as cemetery commissioners, without pay, were most cooperative and anxious that reorganization be brought about.

A meeting was held on March 23, to which all interested persons were invited. Shareholders, in the original charter, were those who had purchased a lot or who were heirs of purchasers.

H. G. Muntzing was chairman of the meeting and Mrs. E. S. Baker was nominated to serve as temporary secretary.

Mr. Wise reported to the meeting that suggestions made by members of the Community Council last year, had been complied with in regard to the care of the cemetery. Brush had been cleaned out, dead trees had been removed, traffic had been marked one way in and out of the cemetery and the roads had been worked on. He also stated that when he and Mr. Welton had become active, they were faced with a $3,100 indebtedness which has been paid off, and now the Association has $6,000 in

Court Paroles Robert Auvil

PARSONS, W. Va.—The Tucker County Circuit Court reconvened in Parsons, March 21 at 1 p.m. with Judge D. E. Cuppett Jr., presiding.

Robert Auvil, through his attorney W. Del Roy Harner, brought a petition for parole before the court. He was paroled for a four-year period. Other conditions of his parole provide that he pay $313.50 with a deed of trust against property he owns in Clover District. He is to pay $25 per month on the note until it is paid. The amount of $313.50 was the cost of making repairs to the county jail after he and others had damaged the jail trying to escape.

An Early Review
Of The Alliance

President Kennedy is being subjected to a fair amount of criticism—with a great deal more likely to come—for alleged lack of progress in his Latin American Alliance for Progress. Much of the adverse comment stems from legitimate concern about the foot-dragging of Latin countries in instituting self-help programs. Basic economic and social reforms were to have been the sine qua non of the Alliance.

Other critics, however, are seizing on initial disappointments and difficulties in the Alliance to embarrass the President politically. It is well known that the President exercises close personal supervision of the program and considers it the most important element of his administration's foreign policy. Indeed he flew to Venezuela and Colombia last December to dedicate the first school and housing projects carried out under its auspices.

The President recently sent Congress a foreign aid message calling for a $3 billion authorization in Alliance aid for the next four years, and a $600 million appropriation for Latin America for the next fiscal year. In his message, he conceded that the Alliance was "barely under way," but explained that it is a "task for a decade, not for a year."

Although it may still be too early to pass judgment on the Alliance, the recently established Inter-American Center of the School of Advanced International Studies, Johns Hopkins University, believes the time ripe to take a look at its economic, political and social aspects. The Center is sponsoring a five-part lecture series at the Pan American Union in Washington at which leading U.S. and Latin statesmen will review the purposes of the Alliance and the problems encountered in its first year.

Milton S. Eisenhower, president of Johns Hopkins, opened the series on Wednesday. Later speakers — to include Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Alliance administrator Teodoro Moscoso—also are friendly witnesses for the Alliance. Their remarks may be aimed at Capitol Hill. But their voices need to be heard as well in Latin capitals because, as the President has said, "the destiny of the Alliance lies largely in the hands of the countries themselves."

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

A Mother's Plea

A mother telephones:
"My son was one of those in the Bay of Pigs. He is now in prison. Castro will kill him. We need $2,000.00 to exchange tractors for lives. Will you help?"

Who can answer this plea? Who knows how to reach the heart of a Communist? We permit Americans to rot in Chinese prisons because we know no way to get them out. How can we do anything for the Cubans whom we abandoned to a cruel death in the Bay of Pigs? Shall we blame ourselves? Shall we blame them? Shall we merely say that some live and some die?

Each week, nearly 2,000 Cuban refugees arrive in Miami. There are all sorts of schemes to help them. Some of the schemes are feasible, some fade from the memory of their authors. What is most important is to educate those who need to continue their schooling and to provide Cuban schools for the very young.

But will these refugees ever be able to return to Cuba or will they become elements in the American melting pot? Rich and cultured Cubans have lost all their possessions. Some have already reestablished themselves in the United States; others face all the problems and difficulties of refugees.

But when the men who went to fight for Cuban freedom in the Bay of Pigs are murdered by Castro, who will speak in their memory? Perhaps a memorial to them will be erected in Miami, but a mother asks: "Can you help?" And one does not know how to help.

The refugee problem is one of resettlement. They cannot all crowd into Miami, which has no industry for them. They need to find work in all parts of the United States so that they are not ghettoized as the Puerto Ricans have been in New York City. Whatever skills they possess should become a valuable asset to the United States. Resettlement is the approach to this problem by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, but such a program will be resisted on the very ancient sociologic truism that birds of a feather flock together, which the professors call "community of kind."

The reason that we have ghettos in our large cities is that people of a kind in the first generation like to live together because they speak the same language, are accustomed to their own particular foods, like to see familiar faces on the streets and in movies, and hate to be ridiculed by those who came before. In the third generation, the ghetto begins to break down.

Resettlement takes time and patience and in a country where unemployment is the principal social problem, there will be resistance to giving the newer refugees jobs. Our labor unions are not always without discriminatory practices. Nevertheless, over the years, those discriminated against break through to get the jobs and even to hold positions in the unions and then they, in turn, discriminate against newcomers. And so the wheel goes round, but meanwhile human beings suffer.

The question also arises as to how many people this country can hold. Our population will soon reach 200,000,000 in 4,000,000 square miles of territory. The racial composition of our people grows constantly different and more mixed. Anglo-Saxon traditions disappear and not only have Eastern European traditions and habits infiltrated, but Latin, Asiatic and African concepts of life have become part of the American amalgam.

In half a century, this will give us a totally new American characteristic. Those who refuse to recognize the nature of this change, do not understand what is happening in their world and those who try to resist this assimilation are bound to fail now as such resistance has always failed throughout history.

These are among the major problems of resettlement. The alternative is genocide.

'We Must Get Rid Of These Extremists!'

Chiang Serious About Wanting To Invade China

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

President Chiang Kai-shek has been strongly pressing the U. S. government to approve invasion of the Chinese Communist mainland from Formosa this summer or autumn.

Gov. Averell Harriman was the last American official to hear Chiang make his case for the hazardous venture he has sworn to undertake before he vanishes from this earthly scene. Several others have heard the same arguments, from Chiang and his representatives, in the months since the thaw in the Kennedy administration's initially icy relations with the Chinese Nationalists.

Yet the visit to Taipeh of the experienced Assistant Secretary of State for Far Eastern Affairs marked a sort of turning point, nonetheless. Previously, the American policy-makers could not bring themselves to believe that Chiang Kai-shek was in deadly earnest. Now they are somewhat apprehensively convinced that he means what he says.

The truth of the matter is that, from his own point of view, the Chinese Nationalist leader has a genuine case. The misery imposed on the countryside by the "great leap forward" and the farm-communes has now spread into every department of national life in Communist China. Even the army's rations have been cut to the point of causing numerous cases of malnutrition. Disaffection is certainly widespread.

Communist China, in fact, is not unlike an outwardly imposing barn full of ill-stored, ill-cured hay, in which the flames of spontaneous combustion may quite suddenly leap out. Chiang's first argument is that a landing would trigger this spontaneous combustion. No one can be sure he is wrong, moreover. Any standard of revolt, successfully raised anywhere in China, would certainly be dangerous for the regime in Peking.

Chiang's second argument is less convincing. He refused to believe in the reality of the Sino-Soviet split until about a year and a half ago. Yet he now reasons that the bad relations between Peking and Moscow reduce the larger risks of an invasion of the mainland almost to zero. Moscow, he says, would be pleased to see the Peking regime suffer or be toppled. Thus, he concludes, there would be no risk of a wider war, drawing in the Soviets.

The first argument is by no means absolutely rejected in Washington. But the second argument has signally failed to carry conviction. The larger risks of Chiang's project are in truth incalculable. They would be all the greater if a landing were attempted and met with striking initial success. This is the source of the apprehension here.

The trouble is that a now-or-never, do-or-die mood rather plainly exists in the Formosa government. For the reasons already cited, the Chinese Nationalist leaders are convinced that the chance has come at last, for which they have waited so long. They are also convinced that if they lose this opportunity, Formosa will also lose its historic role and sink into provincial insignificance.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

REAL ESTATE — The seven astronauts who received $500,000 for stories of their experiences from a nationally circulated magazine are investing about a third of their money in Washington, D. C., real estate.

They, and the holders of a whopping mortgage, will be the sole owners of a million-dollar, 108-unit apartment complex in the capital, on which construction will begin in a few weeks. The project may be named the "Freedom 7" after the famed capsule in which Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. orbited the earth.

The astronauts are also investing in real estate in Florida and in the Grand Bahamas. The latter projects are motels, with one, at Cocoa Beach, Fla., near Cape Canaveral, now under construction.

The Cocoa Beach Motel will have 130 rooms, including suites named after each of the seven astronauts, and in which they will live while assigned to the Cape. However, inasmuch as the project is partially owned by other investors, each will pay the going rate whenever he uses a suite.

The astronauts' adviser is Washington attorney C. Leo DeOrsey, who divulged much of the information about their investments. It is apparent that the lion's share of their capital is going into real estate.

Sale Of Mrs. Kennedy's Necklace
Could Rebuild Village For Orphans

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Jackie Kennedy has been a great saleswoman for the USA. Her charm, her grace, her contagious youth have won as many friends for the United States in India and Pakistan as Eisenhower did when he visited those countries—more than Khrushchev and Bulganin won for Russia.

Traveling the ancient Khyber Pass which Mongol hordes have swept down since 400 BC to conquer India, Jackie also conquered. Like a fairy princess she tripped through Rudyard Kipling land of strong men and patient camels which everyone has read about but few are privileged to visit.

And now, as she returns home, Jackie faces the inevitable let-down. She faces problems.

She has to decide what to do about the gorgeous necklace of pearls, rubies, emeralds and diamonds given her by the President of Pakistan. Will she keep it, give it to the Smithsonian Institution, or what!

Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt faced that problem when she was given a giant Brazilian aquamarine by President Vargas, and finally decided to give it to the Franklin Roosevelt Library at Hyde Park. Mrs. Eisenhower also faced the problem when given a heavy gold bracelet by King Saud of Saudi Arabia. She kept it.

These are mundane things to worry about after such a glamorous trip, but expensive gifts to the wife of the President are frowned on, and the critics are sure to point out that Jackie's necklace was really paid for by the millions in foreign aid we have poured into Pakistan.

More Mundane Matters

Another mundane problem Jackie faces is the Cherry Blossom Festival. This is the fiftieth anniversary of the famed gift of cherry trees from Japan, and the daughter of Japan's foreign minister will plant some new trees commemorating a new era of friendship. When cherry blossom chairman "Jiggs" Donohue wrote the White House two months ago asking the First Lady to participate, however, he got a blunt turnaround from social secretary Tish Baldrige. Mrs. Kennedy, she said, would just be returning from India and would not be available.

Cherry blossoms may not be as exciting as the elephants of Jaipur or the Taj Mahal by moonlight or the sacred temples of Benares, but Mrs. William Howard Taft, wife of another President, planted the first tree and relations with Japan today are even more important.

Waiting at the White House also is the difficult, disagreeable question of peace, and the benign grandmothers who are willing to be arrested on the White House lawn for the sake of peace.

Peace is a persistent problem. The grandmothers keep coming back. They are professors' wives and scientists' wives, and one of the group, Ruth Sheldt of New York, not a grandmother, looks almost as young and beautiful as Jackie.

With 50 per cent of the White House mail against the President on the resumption of nuclear tests, these quiet, persistent ladies present a problem that could well be handled by Jackie—if she would only take over some of these mundane problems.

So life is going to be a bit different from the elephants of Jaipur, the burning ghats of the Ganges, and the polished brass of Rawalpindi. The crocuses, the spring pansies, and the ducks on the south fountain of the White House are beautiful—but an old story.

And having enjoyed a storybook trip through a storybook land, maybe Jackie might share her youth and beauty and exciting experiences with some of those who can't travel to far places.

Children From Nowhere

Not too far from the White House is a home where youngsters are starving for lack of love and beauty.

They are the city's children with no place to go, the children most people don't want, who live on a street way out past nowhere—566 of them in antiquated buildings supposed to house only 320. They are cared for by the hard-pressed District of Columbia. They are hungry, not for food, but for love and human companionship—so hungry that they reach out and touch the hem of your garment as you pass.

What a thrill they would get from the storybook adventures of Jackie Kennedy. How their faces would light up if Jackie would ride that bay gelding given her by the President of Pakistan to see them. How their eyes would sparkle over the brocaded silk, $600 worth, that Jackie collected in the silk factories of India. How much they would appreciate a chance even to see the First Lady's youth and vigor and charm.

And how many extra dresses or meals could be bought if Jackie should auction off that diamond, ruby and emerald necklace given her by the President of Pakistan—a necklace bound to bring political headaches. The quarter of a million dollars that necklace would sell for could even pay for a new building for the dilapidated Junior Village in the nation's capital.

Yes, a lot of problems await Jackie back home in Washington.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

HONG KONG, B. C. C.—There were a few people waiting in the office. An elderly Chinese woman with a fresh dressing on one foot.

She refused to sit, even though the nurse asked her. She kept hobbling, favoring the hurt foot, making elaborate expressions of restrained pain, walking past the pregnant Hindu lady, who sat in a sari fidgeting with her husband's hand, an Englishman who read Sphere, and a little girl who belonged to the Hindu lady.

The nurse, as Chinese as a fortune cookie, sat in her starched whites behind the reception desk. "Yes?" she said to me. I gave her my name and said I had an appointment. She flipped a book open and ran her finger down slowly. "Beeshoo, Beeshoo, Beeshoo," she said, and then lifted her head and grinned. "Beeshoo," she said triumphantly. "Sit and wait, please."

I sat. The little Hindu girl kept looking back from the table of magazines to make sure that her parents hadn't fled. The Chinese lady with the foot collapsed on a sofa and held the hurt foot in air. The nurse trotted out of the room, into another room, and came back.

"You will wait in waiting room, please," she said, looking at me. I thought I was in it. She pointed to another room. I got up, and walked inside. It was a smaller room. It was full of last year's magazines. I read an article in the Hong Kong Standard entitled "Why Are You Our Economic Enemy, Mr. Kennedy?" I wondered at once whether we had sent too many Kennedys here. Or not enough.

A nurse came in, trotting, and went out another door, saying cheerfully: "Soon, now." Out in the other room, I could hear an American voice. It had the low friendly growl of a toothless bulldog. It had to be Jack Sullivan. He bruised a rib in Paris by executing a one-and-a-half gainer in a bathtub in which there was insufficient water.

He had been braced with three-inch adhesive and he was at the doctor's office to have it taken off. On a Round-the-World trip, there are always extra bits of fun. If it isn't a bruised rib, it's sore feet. Or traveler's lumbago.

The nurse peeked in and motioned. I went inside. A doctor sat behind a desk. I sat. He asked about my trouble. I said that, for some time, I had had sub-acute conjunctivitis, an inflammation of the eyes. Lately, it had gone away. I looked around for his ophthalmological instruments. There were none.

He had a small book on his desk. A medical book. He looked up conjunctivitis under the c's. He said nothing. Just read. Then he looked up and said: "Did your Amedician doctors give you an antibiotic?" I said no. He said why. Good question.

I said because they had determined that it came from dandruff and that, as long as one has dandruff, one keeps the conjunctivitis. "Good reason," he said. He was a handsome looking Englishman. He looked at the book again. "I'm here," I said, "merely to make certain that I haven't acquired a new infection."

"Where have you been?" he said. I told him. "Ah," he said. "Inja. Then it is all clear. You used to have sub acute conjunctivitis. You now have angular sub acute conjunctivitis." I didn't know whether to breathe with relief, or stop breathing. "It is peculiar to Inja and it attacks the corners of the eyes instead of the center."

I moved my eyeballs closer to him, in hopes that he would examine them. He didn't. He just moved away a little, and said: "I will give you a prescription. You take it to the chemist. It used to be a little hole in the wall around the corner, but they moved while I was on holiday."

He wrote. I asked him how his holiday had been. "Pretty good," he said. I nodded. "Sometimes one has to settle for pretty good," I said. He stopped writing and squinted at the ceiling. "No," he said, "I must confess it was better than that. Very good I would say."

"Ah," I said. He ripped a sheet off the pad. "Find out where this Chinese chemist has moved. Go there and get these drops. Take one or two in each eye twice a day. Understand?" I said I thought I did. "It will nip your eye a bit," he said, "but do not worry."

No examination. Just a prescription. He must have had a great deal of confidence in my eyes. He stood and shook hands. One shake. I asked where I should pay. He pointed to the outer room. I took the prescription and went to the nurse. "That," she said "will be 20 Hong Kong dollars." I paid.

I saw Sullivan. He was writing and smiling at the same time. "Good luck," I said. "When you leave, my friend count your ribs." . . .

A message from the Treasury of a free people

How to put your name on a Freedom Document

Most of us have deep beliefs in the things America stands for . . . the freedoms that 56 men signed into existence 186 years ago at Independence Hall.

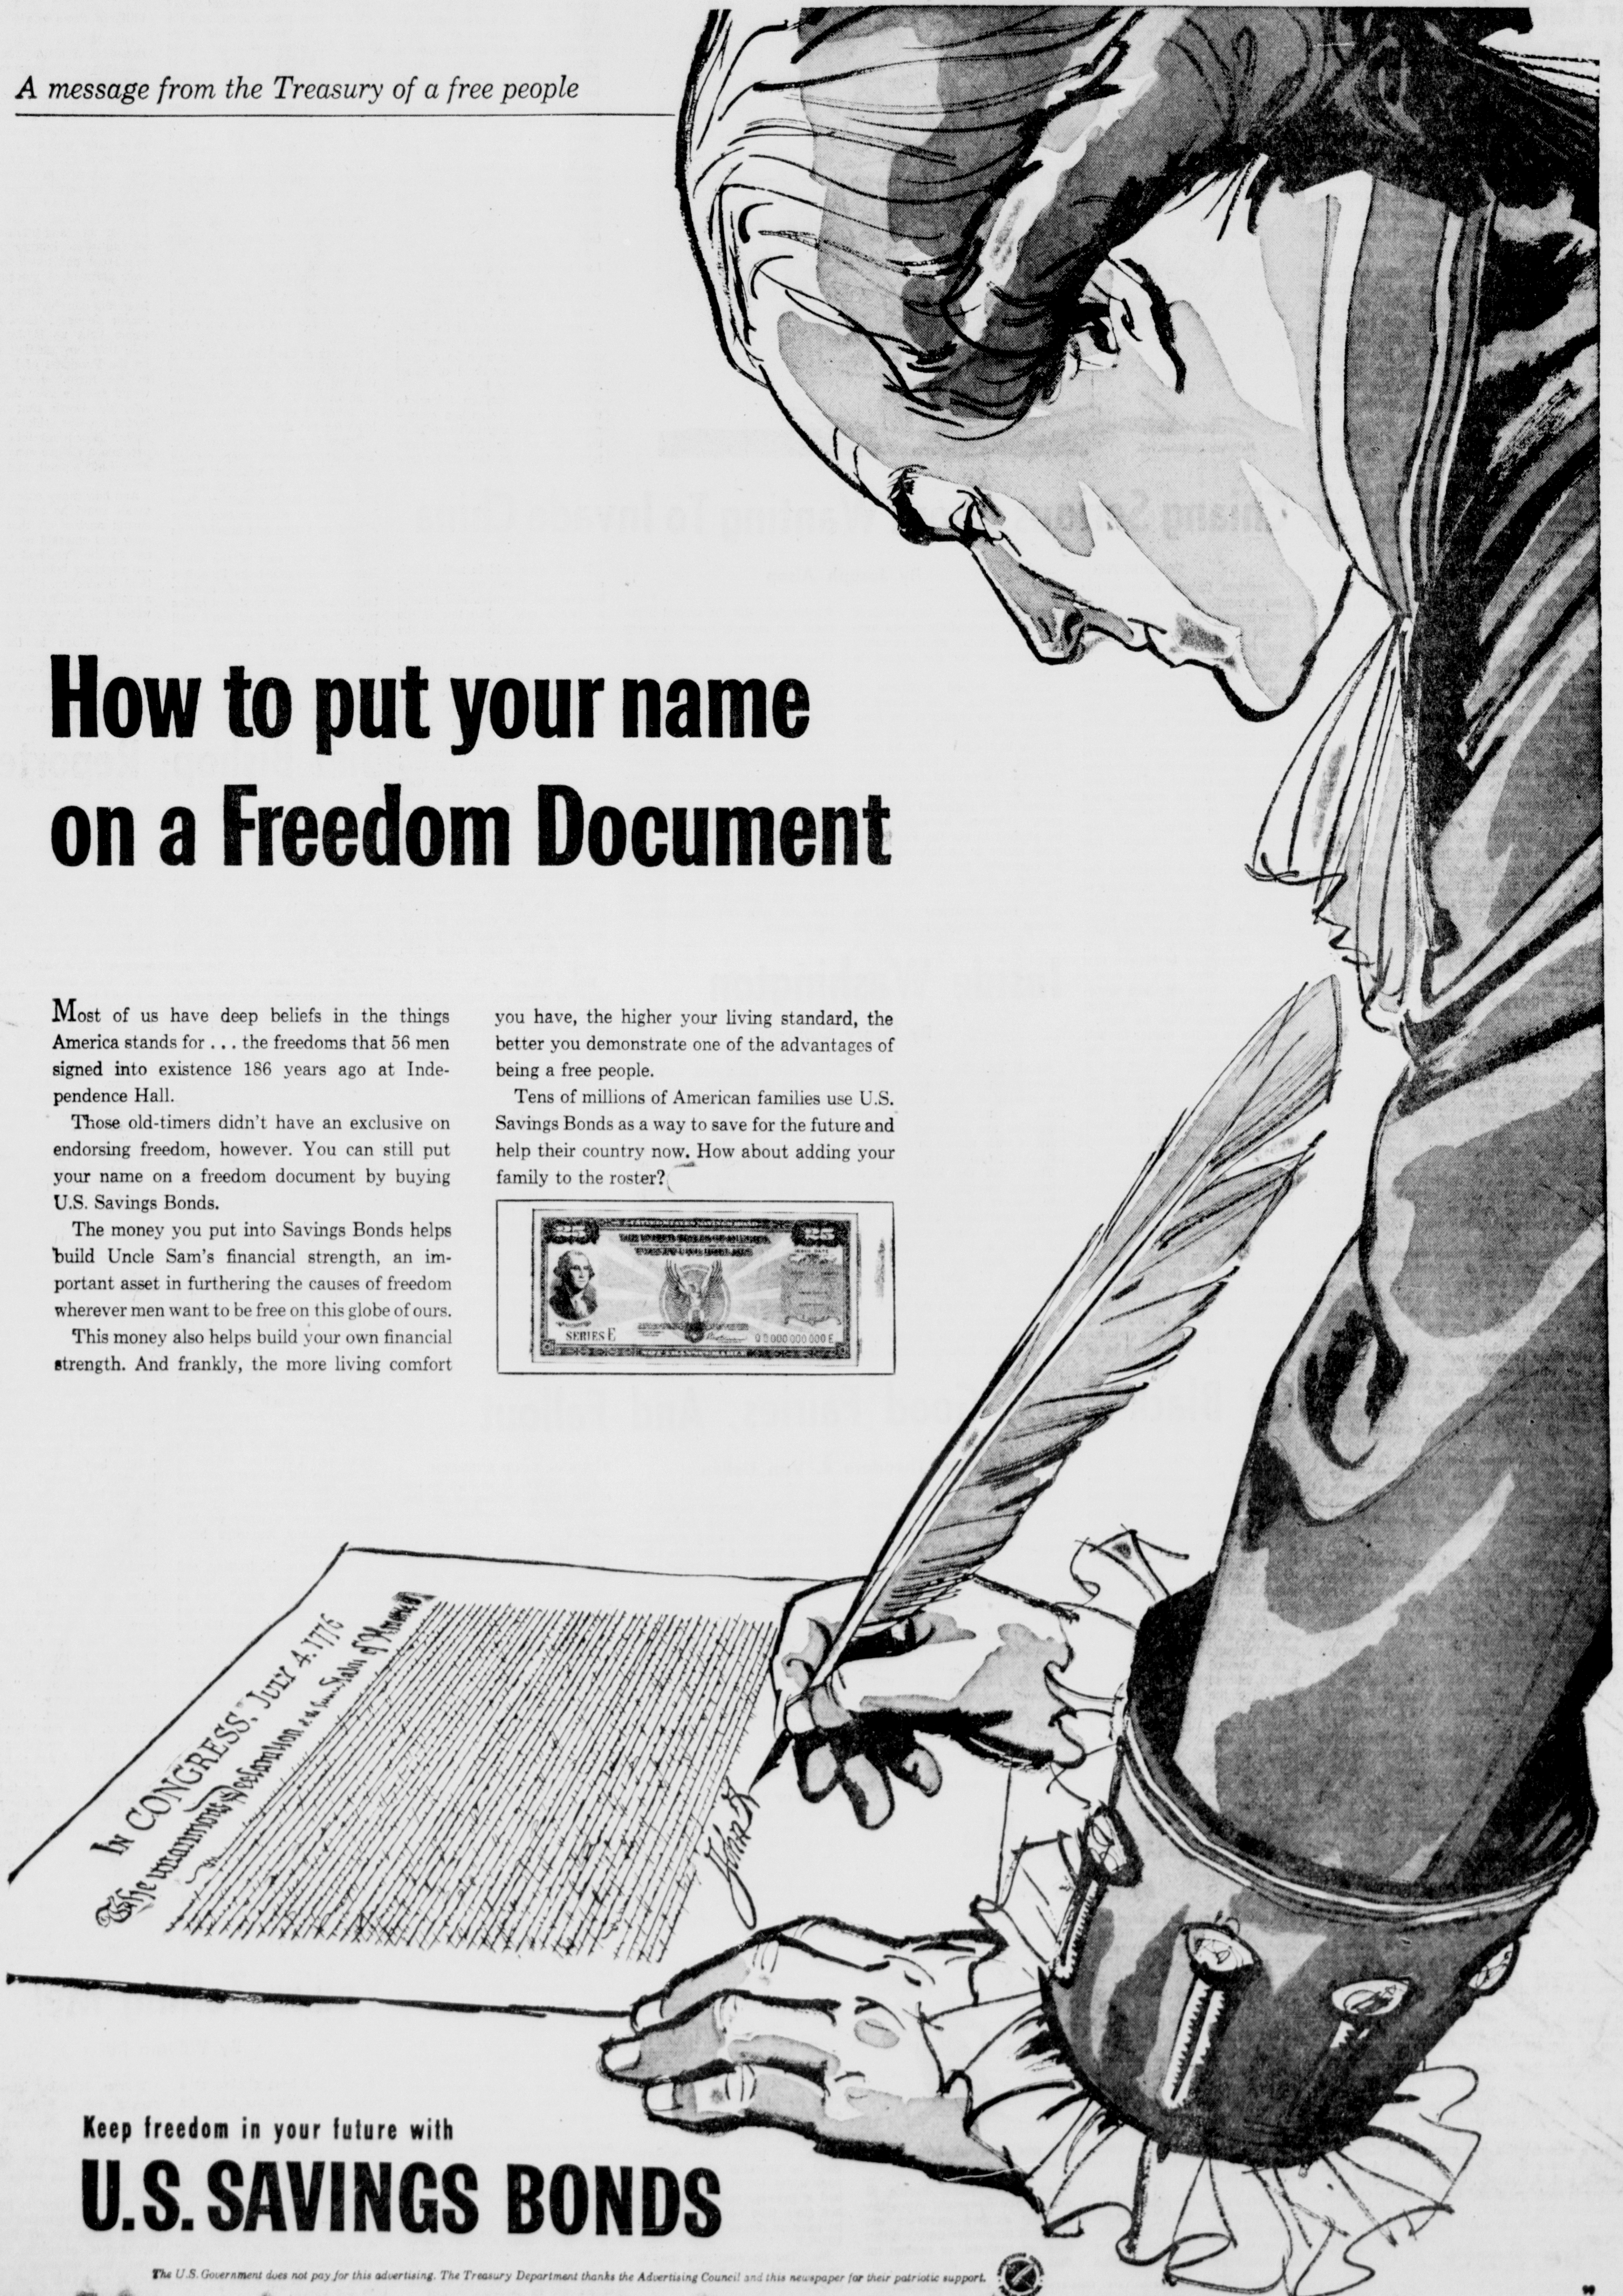

Those old-timers didn't have an exclusive on endorsing freedom, however. You can still put your name on a freedom document by buying U.S. Savings Bonds.

The money you put into Savings Bonds helps build Uncle Sam's financial strength, an important asset in furthering the causes of freedom wherever men want to be free on this globe of ours.

This money also helps build your own financial strength. And frankly, the more living comfort you have, the higher your living standard, the better you demonstrate one of the advantages of being a free people.

Tens of millions of American families use U.S. Savings Bonds as a way to save for the future and help their country now. How about adding your family to the roster?

Keep freedom in your future with Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am only in this country three years so please excuse the way I express myself. I married my husband on the other side and came here to live. He was a wonderful person then and I thought I would have a good life with him. I left behind parents, family, friends a fine position and many things dear to me.

Now I have a small child and everything is different. My husband is often drunk and unpleasant to me. I know he has been unfaithful because when he drinks too much he boasts about his successes with other women.

My parents would send me money to return home if they knew what my life was like and how unhappy I am. I hesitate to write to them because my husband loves our child very much and if I leave this country he will probably never see the boy again.

Please give me your advice. I am very upset and unhappy. —FOREIGN WIFE

DEAR WIFE: You need the help of a clergyman or a respected third party who can sit down with your husband and explain to him how close he is to losing the most precious thing in his life.

If he does not respond to this approach go ahead and write to your folks. It may take this drastic measure to get your husband to straighten around and be a man.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What kind of a racket are you running anyway? How serious does a problem have to be before you will put it in the paper? I had three serious problems last month. I even signed one "Going To Kill Myself" but you wouldn't print it. You have printed lots of nutty problems in the last three weeks.

Most of them were nowhere near as important as mine.

Why do you ask readers for names and addresses? Do you keep their letters on file for some reason? What do you do with the letters people write to you? Why don't you print all the letters so people can get the kind of service you say you are trying to give them?

This letter will probably land in the wastebasket with the others because it's not crazy enough to print.—ON TO YOU

DEAR ON: How would you like to read 750 letters and answers in the paper every day? Well, neither would anyone else. And what newspaper could print such a load?

I don't ask people for names and addresses. I do tell them to enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope if they want a personal reply. All letters are destroyed after they have been read, and answered, if a reply is requested. Why don't you relax?

—E. L. M.

DEAR E. L. M.: If your friend brought this woman "as a gag" it was a cruel thing to do to her and it was unfair to you.

By all means say something—like "No" when he asks you out again. And knock him off your guest list, Tools. He sounds flakey to me.

Recently I had a small dinner party. I invited a divorced man who has taken me out a few times. He asked if he could bring his own date. I said yes.

To my embarrassment he brought a brash, loud-mouthed, ungirded floozy who turned out to be his newly-hired housekeeper. She got dead drunk and spoiled the party for everyone.

I like the man and suspect that perhaps this was his idea of a gag. I'm no snob, but I don't want to be put in this position again. Should I say something?

—E. L. M.

When a word begins to run together like this — it's time for a little breath control — and self control.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Whoa! You're Talking Much Too Fast!

To hear ourselves as others hear us (and learn from us), let's really LISTEN to the speech pattern of today's children. It's a sure bet we'll have to interrupt them several times and ask them to repeat what they have said, to beg them to slow down.

Children only imitate us. We're the ones who should set the example and slow down.

It's never a waste of time to make sure we can be understood the FIRST TIME we speak. . . by spacing our words and phrases enough to permit correct pronunciation and mood inflection. Speaking more distinctly at a regular, rhythmic pace, the natural melody of our voices will have its chance to be expressed.

And it will be far simpler for others to interpret the meaning of what we say.

How can we pull in the reins on speech-racing? Let's take another cue from the children . . . and imitate the masters of clean and even vocal delivery.

Next time you are able to spend some time alone at home, keep the radio going while you go about your chores. An accomplished radio announcer or commentator can be an excellent teacher, if you mind yourself to be aware of what he (or she) and how it is said.

Recordings are another fine source of inspiration. There are stacks to choose from — dramatists, professional speakers, figures in public life, poets, any one of whose recorded performances is worth adding to your home collection. Or you can borrow their albums from your public library for a long enough interval for studying their speaking techniques. Just listening — with awareness — to the voice of a good speaker, over and over again, is bound to impress your mind and improve your own manner of speaking.

"Your Most Attractive Voice" is a pamphlet many readers have found useful for speech improvement. You may have a copy within two weeks, just by requesting one from me, John Robert Powers, c/o this newspaper. Be sure to enclose 10c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Fairchild To Make Dozen More F27s

NEW YORK (AP) — Fairchild Stratos Corp. of Hagerstown, said Wednesday it will make 12 more F27 turboprop transport planes than originally planned.

President Edward G. Uhl said the decision was based upon improved markets and a desire to keep the 33-passenger craft available for military procurement at economical prices.

He said the additional production was largely covered by "orders and requirements which appear firm."

Legion, Wilson Quints Reach Playoff Finals

Beat Sports Shoppe, Boal's Two In Row

Westernport's undefeated American Legion tossers moved into the final round of the County Basketball League playoffs by sweeping Boal's Funeral Home in two straight games, winning last night, 73-53, in the second game of a doubleheader at Fort Hill High School gym.

In the first game, Wilson's Hardware joined the Legionnaires in the finals which get underway next week by stopping Sports Shoppe quint, 64-55, to take the semi-final series in a two-game sweep.

The Legion's Phil Smith tossed in 23 points to lead the pennant winners' attack as Westernport moved out in front, 20-11, in the first quarter and led the rest of the way. The victory marked the sixth consecutive time the Legion beat Boal's including Monday's 60-28 triumph in the playoff opener.

High for Boal's was Dawson with 21 points.

Wilson's held a slim 27-24 lead over Sports Shoppe at halftime, but trailed 45-44 at the end of the third period. The victors rallied for 20 points in the final stanza to clinch the win. Wilson's won the first game, 75-58.

Bob Pence's 15 points was high for Wilson's as four players scored in the double figures for the Hardware men. Best for Sports Shoppe was Scott with 18. The lineups:

Why does every bottle of Seagram's V.O. have 2 stamps?

One stamp is the U. S. Government tax stamp. But the other stamp is found only on genuine Canadian whisky bottled in Canada. It is the official excise stamp that signifies the whisky was distilled, aged, blended, and bottled in Canada, under Canadian Government supervision. Seagram's V. O. comes down from Canada to the U. S. A. in the bottle — your assurance of consistent quality from barrel to bottle. It makes an important difference — in the lightness of the whisky, in the radiance of its flavor. Try V. O. tonight. You'll see.

Cubs Have Bull-Like Reliever In Native Of West Virginia

BY WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

MESA, Ariz.—It's a relief, in a way, to come across a pitcher like Jack Warner of the Cubs.

The 21-year-old righthander is a relief pitcher and is happy staying as one for he believes that "the time for 9-inning pitchers is about gone."

An Alliance, O., youth, signed in June of 1958, and without a bonus, which also is unusual, Jack is well-liked by the Cubs' staff of 10 coaches although he is not on the big club roster.

He's had four years of minor league experience and in the last three years, in which he has been a bullpener, he has started only four games. His career began at Pulaski in Class D and he was wild, getting in only nine games.

At Carlsbad, his second year out, 1959, he turned in a fine 13-3 record, striking out 184 batters while only walking 84. Moved up to San Antonio the last two years, Jack was 4-2 in 1960 and 8-2 last year, striking out twice as many as he walked both years.

Jack is a fast ball pitcher, with an overhand delivery. "He's like a bull," says El Tappe, one of the Cub coaches, "and he stalks out on the mound to mow 'em down."

In 1960 Jack came up with arm trouble. He went to several specialists and planned to lay off baseball for a year. He didn't pick up a ball last spring and then later was taken to Chicago to pitch batting practice. The arm came around, with treatment, and he was sent back to San Antonio where he saved two games in the Texas League playoffs. His club won the Pan-American playoffs but Jack didn't pitch "because our pitchers were doing all right by themselves."

He played winter ball the last two years in the instructional league and it was while doing so he met a Phoenix girl, Freda Car-ten, on a blind date and the two were married. He has made his home in Phoenix since that time.

Jack was born at Brandywine, W. Va., but moved to Alliance, O., when he was two years old. He is one of six children, the youngest. His father works in a factory in Alliance.

As a high schooler in Alliance Jack was a defensive fullback on the grid squad and a pitcher on the baseball team. In the Hot Stove League he started when he was 12 and in the six years he played he had 13 no-hitters.

Mrs. Howard Wilson Re-elected Head Of Moorefield League

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — Mrs. Howard Wilson was re-elected president of the Moorefield Little League at the first meeting held at the Moorefield graded school Thursday night.

Other officers named were John Bosley, vice-president; Don Baker player agent; R. E. Fisher, secretary treasurer, and Aubrey E. Evans, supervisor in charge of equipment. The group authorized the application for the Little League charter which will become effective June 1.

Three managers were approved, Forrest Wolfe, George T. Leatherman and Harold Smith. Ted Burns was named chief umpire who will select his assistants.

The group voted against Sunday games for the 1962 season of 18 games unless they became necessary to make up a rain date. A discussion was held on the formation of a Pony League for the older youths but no action was taken.

Mrs. Wilson said that more adult help was needed to help with the Little League and urged more parents and interested adults to come to the next meeting April 5 at the graded school.

Brewer's Career Apparently Ended

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — Tom Brewer, 31-year-old righthander who won 19 games for Boston in 1956, left the camp of the Red Sox Thursday, his baseball career apparently ended.

Brewer, idled most of last season with a shoulder injury, had been declared a free agent during the winter. He came here to train with the Sox this spring, hopeful his arm would respond. It didn't.

Brewer, who had an 88-80 record in seven seasons with the Sox, left for his home in Cheraw, S.C., saying he had no immediate plans.

Buffalo, Oakland Trade Gridders

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — The American Football League Buffalo Bills have obtained Joe Cannavino from the Oakland Raiders in exchange for defensive halfback Vernon Valdez, general manager Dick Gallagher announced Thursday.

Gallagher said the 6-foot, 185-pound Cannavino, a regular safety man for the Raiders last year, returns to the Bills in a straight player transaction. Cannavino, a native of Cleveland who played college football at Ohio State, originally was signed by Buffalo in 1960 but went to Oakland when the west coast team joined the league.

Valdez, who came to the Bills in early 1961 after playing with the National League Los Angeles Rams, served as a left side corner back in the Buffalo defensive unit.

Rookie Sparks Twins' 7-4 Win

LAKELAND, Fla. (UPI) — Rookie Bernie Allen hammered out three straight doubles Thursday to lead the Minnesota Twins to a 7-4 victory over the Detroit Tigers at Henley Field.

The former Purdue quarterback a $50,000 bonus player, started a three-run rally in the ninth with a sharp double to right field.

He came in with the tie-breaking run on Dick Rollins' single to left and Zorro Versalles clinched it with an opposite-field home run over the right field fence.

The outburst came against Ron Kline and they were the first runs in 12 innings scored off the veteran righthander this spring.

SARASOTA, Fla. (UPI) — The Chicago White Sox shelled Bob Friend for eight runs in the first inning Thursday and went on to an easy 11-5 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The victory boosted the Sox' exhibition record to 10 wins against eight defeats.

The Sox sent 12 men to the plate against Friend in the opening inning with the first eight reaching safely — six on singles, one on a walk, and another on an error. After Friend retired the side, he walked to the plate and argued with umpire Ed Hurley, who ejected him from the game.

Dale Long's seventh homer of the spring averted a shutout for the Nats.

Jerry Lumpe's single to center off Claude Osteen started the winning rally. It was followed by three infield hits, an error and a sacrifice for four runs.

Lions Trade Jim Ninowski And Cassady

Six-Player Deal Includes Watkins, Lloyd And Glass

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions of the National Football League traded quarterback Jim Ninowski, halfback Howard (Hop-along) Cassady and lineman Bill Glass to the Cleveland Browns Thursday for quarterback Milt Plum, halfback Tom Watkins and linebacker Dave Lloyd.

Plum, the league's leading passer the last two seasons, answers the Lions' need for a top-flight quarterback. Glass, a defensive end, was the big man in the trade for the Browns, who have needed help in their defensive line.

Returns To Browns

Ninowski, former Michigan State star, is returning to the Browns after two seasons with the Lions. He was Detroit's No. 1 quarterback most of last season when the Lions finished second in the Western Division. Cassady is a six-year veteran of the NFL and was a two-time All-American halfback at Ohio State.

Glass played his college ball at Baylor and completed four seasons with the Lions.

Plum is a five-year veteran in the NFL and a Penn State graduate.

First Year In NFL

Watkins played at Iowa State and last year was his first in the NFL.

Lloyd played at Georgia and came to the Browns as a line-backer in 1959.

Although Plum recently criticized Cleveland Coach Paul Brown for his system of calling all the plays from the bench, a Browns' spokesman said this was not a factor in trading Plum and that the deal had been under negotiation since January.

The Very Rev. William Kelley, president of Marquette, said the dismissal action was taken on the basis of evidence submitted the committee on discipline.

Paret Remains Unconscious

Boxer Occasionally Moves His Arms

NEW YORK (AP) — Former welterweight champion Benny (Kid) Paret, unconscious for the fifth day and in a moderate coma, occasionally moved his arms Thursday.

The latest bullet from Roosevelt Hospital, however, reported his condition unchanged.

The report added that the 25-year-old Cuban, does not recognize people.

Paret was knocked out by Emile Griffith in the 12th round of their title bout at Madison Square Garden Saturday night.

Doctors said Paret's condition was critical and that he had only a slight chance to live.

Paret's mother, Mrs. Maxima Crespo, said in Havana Thursday that she hopes to fly to the United States Friday. She said a flight to Miami is being arranged through the Cuban National Physical Education Institute.

Mrs. Crespo, 56, added she knows no one in Miami. She does not speak English.

Polo Grounds Face-Lifting Job Is Nearing Completion

$300,000 Is Cost; Apartment Houses Go Up After 1962

NEW YORK (UPI) — Casey Stengel will hardly recognize the old polo grounds when he brings his New York Mets to town for their first National League baseball season.

A $300,000 face-lifting job is nearing completion on the out-moded old park where Stengel played the outfield in his heyday and the last ticks will go on before the home opener April 13.

Gets One Year Reprieve

The long neglected former home of the Giants, scheduled for destruction until the birth of the Mets brought a one-year reprieve, has been given a bright new coat of paint in vital areas and the playing field has been rebuilt entirely with lush merion blue grass.

A new electronic scoreboard is on the way and under construction is the snazzy "Mets Lounge"

— a bar and grill for season box holders.

"We'll be ready by opening day," said promotion director Julie Adler of the Mets. "The old place will be as neat, comfortable and attractive as we possibly can make it."

The entire cost of refurbishing will be lost. The Mets next year move to a new stadium at Flushing Meadow and nothing can be salvaged.

Players Help Coaches Pick All-Opponent

Secretary To Tabulate Ballots; Three 1961 Officers Reelected

Officers were reelected and a new system for selecting an all-league football team was adopted at the dinner meeting of the Cumberland Valley Athletic League held yesterday at Berkeley Springs.

Reelected were Stephen Lerda, principal of Westminster High School, president; Herbert Logsdon, principal of North Hagerstown High School, vice president; and Dr. W. Ardell Haines, principal of Allegany High School, secretary-treasurer.

The new system for selection of an all-league team calls for each coach with the help of members of his squad to pick an all opponents team and the results will be forwarded to the secretary of the association who will check the ballots and announce the team.

Commencing with the 1962 football season, each school will be required to fill out a mimeographed form and send it to its opponent at least a week before a game containing the following information:

1. List of eligible players. 2. Information for the program. 3. Information on the band, including time of arrival, how long it will perform and whether it desires to perform before or after the home band. It was pointed out that the visiting band usually is extended the courtesy of performing first on the field.

Plans for the league's annual track and field meet at Frederick, May 5, were discussed.

Announcement also was made that the Maryland State High School Athletic Association will sponsor a football clinic at the Board of Education Building, Rockville, May 4 and 5.

Bill Elias, head football coach at the University of Maryland, and his staff, will serve as clinicians. Coach Tom Nugent and his University of Maryland staff were in charge of last year's clinic.

The seven schools represented were Martinsburg, North and South Hagerstown, Frederick, Westminster, Allegany and Fort Hill.

Neyland's Body Is Flown Home

Sports Events At University Canceled

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—A Navy airplane Thursday bore the body of Brig. Gen. Robert R. Neyland, University of Tennessee athletic director and one of the great football coaches of all times, back to his Tennessee home.

Neyland, a war hero and engineer, died Wednesday in a New Orleans hospital. He was 70 years old.

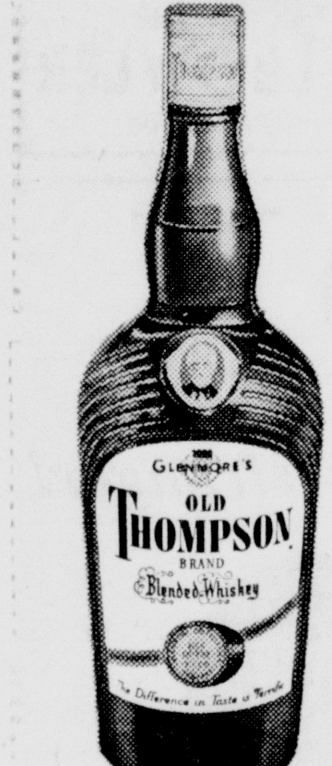

A Navy plane brought home the general, his wife and their two sons. Neyland's body was taken to Rose Mortuary in Knoxville to lie in state until funeral services at 2 p.m. EST Friday. He will be buried in the military cemetery here.

Condolences from fellow coaches, players, political leaders and military figures poured in. Many of them reminisced about the great years of Tennessee football when Neyland was unbeatable.

Final ceremonies for the general — at his request — will be simple. Flags at the University of Tennessee were flown at half-mast, and the university cancelled all its spring sports events for the rest of the week. There was immediate speculation about a successor to Neyland as athletic director, but university officials declined to comment.

Carolina Joy Captures Final Bowie Feature

Ferraro Rides 49 Winners At Meet

BOWIE, Md., March 29 (AP)—Cary C. Boshamer's Carolina Joy, who failed to run in 1960 and then ran once last season, made his first start in 12 months in the Currian Call Purse, featured eighth race on Bowie's final program today, and was in front all the way over the six-furlong distance.

Under Phil Grimm, Carolina Joy was tiring slightly in the final drive, but held well enough to win by a length from J. Ferrell Luck's Restless Cloud, who was about a length to the good of W. Taylor Leatherbury's Might Is Right.

Carolina Joy had made just one previous start in two years when he won here last spring, but was backed with confidence by form players in the closing-day gathering of 9,847 fans and returned only $6.40 straight.

The six-year-old son of Johns Joy and Miss Noscoca broke fastest of all in the 8-horse field and opened up a clear lead in the first quarter mile. He came into the stretch three in front and went out the three-quarters of a mile in 1:11.

The 40-day meeting closed with Apprentice Ronnie Ferraro the leading rider with 49 winners. He won the last race of the meeting aboard Fickle Nick.

Tomorrow is a "dark day" in Maryland's spring turf season, but the sport will be resumed at Laurel Race Course on Saturday with a renewal of the $15,000-added Capitol Handicap, a six-furlong sprint.

"HE GREW HAIR"

Warren Feathers, Claysburg, Penna. (near Altoona), shows he regrew hair by the Lesley Home Treatment Method.

Hair Consultant Here Today; Learn If Your Hair Loss Can Be Stopped and Baldness Prevented

Mr. F. I. BRODIE, representing the Lesley Hair and Scalp Consultants, will give hair and scalp consultation to hair worried men and women at the FORT CUMBERLAND HOTEL in CUMBERLAND, TODAY ONLY, MARCH 30, 1962 from 1:00 P. M. to 8:00 P. M.

Decide today to give proper care to that prized personal appearance asset—a good head of hair. Come in and talk with the Lesley Consultant regarding your hair and scalp problems. Learn how you can treat yourself right in the privacy of your own home. Regular checkups in your city by a Lesley Consultant assures success in the minimum period of time.

If you have dandruff, excessive hair fall, thinning hair, excessive oiliness or dryness, itchy scalp, or if your scalp is still creating hair you should take positive action at once. A little time spent now may save a great deal of regret later.

You incur absolutely no charge or obligation by coming in for the consultation. We will tell you frankly and sincerely whether or not we believe you can be helped, how long it will take and how much it will cost.

If you are accepted for treatment, you will be given a written guarantee for the length of time treatment is required, on a pro-rated basis. Nearly half of our clients are women.

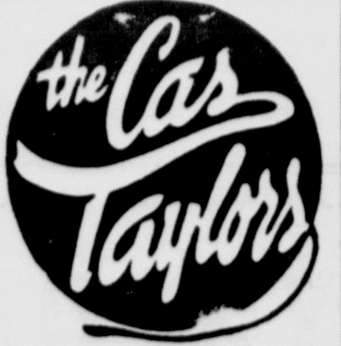

SANDY CURREN
Niles, Ohio

LESLEY'S POLICY
While male pattern baldness is the cause of the great majority of cases of baldness and excessive hair loss, for which neither Lesley treatment nor any other treatment is effective, Lesley offers you a free examination to determine whether you are one of those who can be helped.

The persons shown above do not have male pattern baldness.

Stop by the HOTEL FORT CUMBERLAND TODAY ONLY, MARCH 30, 1962, between 1:00 P. M. and 8:00 P. M. Ask at the MR. BRODIE's room number. He does not work by appointment. Come at your convenience. Examinations are given privately.

Eating out usually is most pleasant but how much you truly enjoy it depends in large degree upon the surroundings... the atmosphere.

With this thought in mind... The Cas Taylors' have created an entire new room for your dining pleasure and we will be delighted to welcome you to THE DUGOUT!

THE DUGOUT is located downstairs... beneath The Cas Taylors' restaurant and as you might imagine features a sporting decor.

In addition THE DUGOUT also features luncheon daily from 11:30 'til 3:00 and dinner from 5:00 'til midnight.

As you may already know The Cas Taylors' is noted for delicious seafood and in addition to the many tempting dishes already offered The Dugout will feature oysters on the half shell.

Treat yourself to a delectable luncheon or dinner at The Dugout... you'll find it at the corner of N. Mechanic and Valley streets.
P. S. Bring the whole family!

NOTICE

Pursuant to the provisions of Section
127 of the Charter of the City of Cumberland, Maryland, (1950 Edition), notice is hereby given that the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, Md., in regular session Monday, March 26, 1962, approved the Report of Commissioners for the closing of an unnamed fifteen (15) foot alley as shown on a map in the Engineer's office, and all of the premises of the Cumberland Improvement Company's
Eastern Addition and Eastern Addition
Annex to Cumberland, Maryland.

After meeting on the premises (10-00
A. M., March 12, 1962) and remaining there for a period in excess of one-half (1/2) hour and after considering the entire matter and all persons who were heard at the time and place heretofore mentioned, and after walking over the entire area, the following was the unanimous opinion of the commissioners appointed to close the aforementioned alley:

"That there are no damages or benefits to the owners of lots bounding on the fifteen (15) foot alley running in an easterly direction across part of Lot No. 375, and all of Lots Nos.
377, 376, 375, 374 and 373 of the Cumberland Improvement Co.'s
Eastern Addition and Eastern Addition
Annex, from the Southwesterly side of Pine Avenue to the Southwesterly side of Monroe Street, a distance of approximately 300 feet.
Also, since the alley is being closed at the request of Mr. Herman Meekins, and since the alley is he should be required to pay all costs incurred by the City of Cumberland in connection with the closing of said alley.

Any person, persons, firm or corporation feeling aggrieved by the decision of the Commissioners may appeal therefrom within thirty (30) days after March 26, 1962, and filing written notice of such appeal with the City Clerk of the City of Cumberland, Maryland, who will transmit same to the Circuit Court for Allegany
County to be decided for jury trial.

Allegany High Will Stagger Class Schedule

Program Will Start In September

Anticipating an enrollment increase of about 205 pupils next September, Allegany High School will be required to stagger its attendance schedule, Dr. W. Ardel Haines, school principal, disclosed last night.

Although the plans are still in the tentative stages, they call for pupils in the ninth through the 12th grades to report to school about 8 a. m. each day, some 40 minutes earlier than under the present arrangements.

These pupils from the top four grades will have six 55-minute class periods and a 30-minute lunch period. Their regular schedule will come to an end at 2:45 p. m. and then they will have a period for extra-curricular activities such as sports, music, art.

Seventh and eighth grade pupils will not come to school until 9 a. m. each day and they will have their activities period at the beginning of the day. Then will follow their class periods and lunch, and their school day will end about 3:45 p. m.

Dr. Haines explained that there no longer will be a 30-minute free period near the lunch period.

This will not be a split schedule such as was observed at Allegany High School some 30 years ago after the Greene Street Junior High School was destroyed by fire.

The school just does not have sufficient room for all of the anticipated 2,225 pupils to be in home rooms at the same time. The problem is had enough with 2,020 enrolled this year.

School buses will make repeat runs when the new school year starts in September. Children in the seventh and eighth grades will not catch the same buses as their older brothers and sisters.

The Allegany County Board of Education is pushing plans for a new junior high school for seventh and eighth graders in the Allegany area but this building is not expected to be completed before the 1964-65 school year.

School officials would like to have the junior high school constructed on land at the end of Franklin Street where the county garage is now located. The county commissioners want to move the garage to the Cresaptown area, a more central location for the sector it serves.

Mahoney Gives Savings, Loan Issue A Push

Kahl Attacks On Reapportionment

By The Associated Press

"The key to the whole sordid mess" of Maryland savings and loan associations was an insurance company whose major incorporators "were old cronies and close political allies" of Gov. Tawes, George P. Mahoney declared Thursday night.

The Democratic opponent of Tawes devoted an entire 15-minute television appearance to talking about what he called the savings scandal and swindle.

"Now, was Tawes, himself, actually a party to all this?" Mahoney asked.

"I have shown you that the major incorporators of the misleading insurance set-up—SFIC—the key to the whole sordid mess, were old cronies and close political allies of the governor."

Mahoney said the incorporators of Security Financial Insurance Corporation (SFIC) included Del. A. Gordon Boone and State Sen. James A. Pine, Baltimore County Democrats who are the respective floor leaders in the legislature. Use "False Front"

"In horn savings and loan associations used a false front of apparent safety and security," Mahoney said. "They told the people that deposits were insured by an outfit called the Security Financial Insurance Corporation—SFIC."

"The depositors believed their savings were properly insured and safe. Why?"

"Because by deliberate design, the initials SFIC are almost exactly the same as those of SLIC, the federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation. This is the sign of protection by the United States government."

Mahoney also continued to press his attack on Tawes for the governor's 1960 veto of a bill to regulate savings and loan associations. "It called for a maximum jail sentence of three years and a maximum fine of $10,000 for swindlers," Mahoney said. "It had teeth."

In Kahl Attack

"The night before Gov. Tawes was to act on the bill—to sign it or veto it—it is widely believed throughout the state that the governor was visited by four mysterious men."

"The next day he vetoed the bill. Why did he veto it? Who were those four men? What did they say to him?"

"A year later, another bill was passed. But it had no teeth. Instead of three-year jail terms, it threatens swindlers with nothing but a $1,000 fine—a tap on the wrist."

The names of Boone and Pine also figured in an attack by Christian H. Kahl, Baltimore County executive. He said they were motivated by pure politics in filing a federal court suit Wednesday seeking an order for legislative reapportionment.

Kahl is supporting Mahoney while Boone and Pine are aligned with Tawes.

Kahl is chairman of the board of the Maryland Committee for Fair Representation. It has been pressing the legislature to reapportion strictly according to population and has pending in the Court of Appeals a suit to force it.

Fails In House

Boone and Pine filed their suit in U.S. District Court in Baltimore in the wake of a Supreme Court decision Monday that federal judges may hear them.

Kahl charged Boone and Pine were motivated by political expediency.

"Neither, in direct contrast to their oft-displayed power to move other legislation they truly and sincerely backed through the General Assembly," Kahl stated, "were at all successful in pushing for even the watered down token reapportionment bills which

Scholarship Plan Applies At Frostburg

Program Covers Liberal Arts

As a result of an act passed in the 1961 Maryland General Assembly, scholarships up to $500 are applicable to Frostburg State Teachers College, according to Dr. R. Bowen Hardesty, president.

Dr. Hardesty pointed out the scholarship program is for those students seeking the liberal arts program and does not apply to the teacher education course of study.

The college president said the scholarships for $500 can be used toward the $200 tuition charged for each year of study in the liberal arts program at FSTC.

The scholarship program is administered by the State Scholarship Board in the State Office Building in Baltimore. High school students who are interested may apply directly to the state board for consideration under the program.

At FSTC, the scholarships would apply to the four-year liberal arts program with A.B. and B.S. degrees with majors in biology, chemistry, English, French, geography, German, history, mathematics, physics and Spanish.

Other majors being considered at FSTC which would come under the liberal arts program are political science, sociology, economics and philosophy.

Dr. Hardesty said the scholarship plan also applies to the pre-professional program with majors in dentistry, law, medicine, theology and pharmacy.

It also applies, he said, to the two-year pre-professional courses in agriculture, diplomacy, engineering, pharmacy, theology, social work, journalism, law, medical technology, medicine, nursing and optometry.

Although scholarships up to $500 may be obtained, students may not collect the difference between $500 and $200 if they attend FSTC.

Dr. Hardesty pointed out that if students qualify for the scholarships and take a two-year course they then may take the other two years of study at any other Maryland college or university.

Export Trade Brings Over $12 Million To District

America's expanding export trade brings over $12 million a year into Maryland's Sixth Congressional District, supporting jobs and incomes for farm and industrial workers throughout the area.

Over $9 million worth of manufactured goods was exported from the Sixth District in 1960 and over $3 million worth of agricultural products.

These estimates of the impact of world trade on the Sixth District are made in a new U.S. Commerce Department study distributed by the Committee for a National Trade Policy, a bi-partisan organization supported by business, labor, farm and consumer groups.

Thirteen of the largest exporters in the area, each of which sold more than $25 million abroad, provide jobs for over 12,000 workers. Major exporting industries in the Sixth Congressional District are chemical and allied products, rubber and plastics products, non-electrical machinery, stone, clay and glass products, fabricated metal products, electrical machinery, transportation equipment and instruments and related products.

The Manufacturers Representative firms include the Celanese Fibers Company, which exports synthetic fibers; Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, which exports tires, tubes and tread rubber; Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, the Lofstrand Company in Rockville, exporting insecticide sprayers and fire extinguishers; the Eveready Company in Frederick, exporting cooking utensils; Vitro Corporation of America—Electronics Division, in Silver Spring, which exports electrical machinery and operates primarily in the fields of atomic energy and weapons systems; USI Robodney Division of U.S. Industries Inc., in Silver Spring, exporting electronic automation equipment; Mack Trucks in Hagerstown; the American Instruments Company Inc. of Silver Spring, and Bowen and Company Inc. of Bethesda, exporters of instruments and laboratories.

Price War Cuts Gas To 23.9

Cost Now 8c Below 'Normal'

A gasoline price war in the Cumberland area has forced prices down two cents a gallon in the last seven days. Regular gasoline prices have dropped eight cents since about the beginning of the year.

The latest round of price cuts began last Friday when Hudson, which normally prices its gasoline one cent a gallon below that of larger companies, cut its price from 24.9 to 22.9 cents a gallon.

Other companies had been selling regular gas at 25.9 Friday evening. Gulf dropped the price of its third-line Gulfane to 23.9 cents a gallon.

Esso and Atlantic followed suit on Monday, and Mobil, Sinclair and Shell cut their prices on Tuesday and Wednesday. American and Sun met the price yesterday morning.

Premium grades of all brands were reduced accordingly.

A spokesman for one of the larger oil companies said regular grades of branded gasoline have "normally been selling at 31.9 cents in this area. In the last two or three months the price dropped, a penny at a time, to 25.9."

The same spokesman said local bulk plants have cut prices 7½ cents a gallon and now are selling gasoline to dealers at less than the amount of tax per gallon. The bulk price is now 9.4 cents a gallon. Federal and state taxes amount to 10 cents a gallon.

He said he doubted that the retail price of 13.9 cents plus 10 cents tax would go much lower or that prices would remain down for long. But, he said, price wars have lasted longer and prices have been lower.

DR. FRANK X. SUTMAN

N.Y. Professor Will Visit Classes Here

Consultant Starts Monday

Dr. Frank X. Sutman, professor of science and chairman, general studies science program, State University of New York College at Buffalo, will be in Allegany County three days next week as resource person and consultant for chemistry and physics teachers and students, according to Jack A. Petry, supervisor of high schools in the county.

Brinsmade, group supervisor of rocket research engineering at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, who is chairman of the program of visiting scientists for the Western Maryland Section of the American Chemical Society.

This will mark the third successive year that a visiting chemist has come to this county through the cooperative efforts of the American Chemical Society, Ivan A. Hall of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, is president of the Western Maryland section.

Dr. Sutman's activities here will begin Monday morning with a briefing session with Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster, Mr. Petry and Mr. Brinsmade.

He is the former chairman of the Division of Natural Sciences at the Inter American University of Puerto Rico.

City Firemen Kept Busy

The four local fire companies were called out yesterday as fires were reported at various times in separate sections of the city.

The 85-foot aerial ladder and pumper from Central Fire Station reported at 8:38 to the Times-News Building when smoke was detected on the first floor.

The firemen chopped into the floor of the composing room on the second story and found charred wood which had been smoldering.

East Side firemen were called to the corner of Decatur and Frederick streets at 8:26 p. m. when an auto caught fire.

They said the motorist was pouring gasoline into the carburetor when it apparently backfired. The fire was quenched with an extinguisher. No damage was reported.

South End firemen checked a false alarm at Oldtown Road and Glenwood Street when someone pulled Box 617 at 5:51 p. m.

Firemen from West Side station extinguished a grass fire which burned area to the rear of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant. The call was received at 4:25 p. m.

Land Is Scorched In Cresaptown Fire

Nearly an acre of land was burned over yesterday afternoon in Cresaptown and several dwellings were endangered by flames swept by the wind.

Cresaptown volunteer firemen fought the blaze which burned out of control in the vicinity of the Baptist church just off U.S. Route 220.

They said someone apparently was burning brush when the fire got out of control 1:45 p. m. Seven volunteers responded with two pieces of equipment.

City Building Permits Pass $600,000 Mark

Home Construction Picture Improves

Permits for construction projects estimated to cost $629,956 have been issued by the City of Cumberland during the first three months of 1962.

Since this is about half of the 1961 total of $1,252,994, it is considered likely that this will be a better construction year than 1961. It is still too soon to guess how the year will compare with 1960, when building permits totaling $2,505,250 were issued.

During the building permit month which ended March 26, the City of Cumberland issued permits valued at $331,385.

Much of the value resulted from a permit to the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company for a $270,000 addition to the plant's tire room.

March permits also included four residences valued at $42,285, a garage with second floor apartment at $6,000, an apartment over an existing garage at $3,500, two additions to residences estimated to cost $4,200, a garage at $400 and several improvements to building valued at $5,000.

The March permits included six for new constructions valued at $51,785 and five additions and improvements estimated to cost $279,600.

The 1962 dwelling picture is looking better than last year. During the first three months, the city has issued permits for 15 dwellings and two apartments over garages. Only nine dwelling permits had been issued by this time last year.

The contest will be held at 7 p. m. in the extension office. There will be two contests, a junior and senior. Members who have not reached the age of 14 before January 1, 1962, will participate in the junior contest; the others will be in the senior contest.

Rules for both groups are that the contestant must be enrolled in the public speaking project, must bring 4-H record book and two typed outlines of the talk, and be prepared to speak four to seven minutes. Senior contestants must have completed at least two years of 4-H club work. Entries must be made by April 19.

"Around the World" was the theme for the rush party. The tables were decorated with small globes and dolls dressed in the costumes of various countries. Signs with "hello" and "good-bye" in various languages were used throughout the room.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Acquaintances Are Made; Friends To Be Earned

Loneliness and a shortage of friends is a familiar complaint. I wonder whether it would be if more people gave as much thought and attention to the selection of a friend as they give to the choice of a dress or a hat?

In the first place, you are judged by the friends you have as much as you are by your dress, manner and speech. In your avidness to make friends, you consort with a person or two and soon find yourself grouped as you do not wish to be. It can rob you of your identity, cost you your freedom of choice and force unwelcome relationships on you. It may cause the very person you would like most as a friend to question your worthiness and to shy away.

When you enter school, new social scenes or new work, it is important to keep your conversation on an impersonal level, spiced, of course, with all the wit you can summon and all the interest you can generate. But refrain from pouring out your troubles, secrets and innermost feelings to new acquaintances; if you do not, you'll quickly be pegged as lacking in discrimination—and the discriminating will not choose you as a friend.

Acquaintances are easily made. Friends must be earned. Take time to let friendship's blossom unfold; snip it in the bud and you can hardly expect it to come into full flower.

With these tactics, you'll be popular with all but you'll not be caught by an individual or crowd that may cause your interests and standards to flag. And when you do discover a person who is as loyal and caring as yourself, you'll find you've a real candidate for friendship—one who is worthy of trust and tenderness.

Baby chicks can't talk — we know that. But we wonder what this little chick would think if chicks could think?

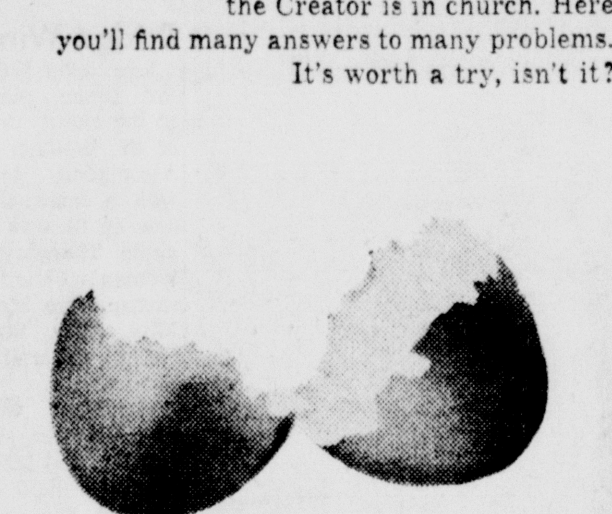

Probably he's bewildered... a great big world... great big problems... an orphan already... and hungry!

Yet, there's deep meditation here. Man is often like that little baby chick; bewildered, confused, wondering... especially those on the threshold of a new life or venture.

We don't know all the answers, of course, but we do know some. We do know how to reach our Creator (PRAYER), how He reaches us (BY HIS GRACE).

We also know that the most serene place for such communion with the Creator is in church. Here you'll find many answers to many problems.

It's worth a try, isn't it?

New venture

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH.

The Church is the greater factor in each for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Please go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
